Overflights Upset Castro

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —Cuba has informed U.N. Secretary-General U Thant that it will not stand for U.S. reconnaissance flights over Cuba or other provocative acts, an authoritative source said Thursday night.

The letter, sent by Cuba's Foreign Minister Raul Roa, did not say what steps Cuba intended to take.

It did not ask for U.N. action now but asked Thant to circulate the letter to all U.N. members.

President Johnson said two days ago the United States will continue the reconnaissance flights.

IRS: Baker Forged Name

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service said Thursday investigation has established that Bobby Baker signed an accountant's name to federal income tax returns he filed for 1961.

In a letter to Sen. B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., IRS Commissioner Mortimer Caplin said Baker signed the name of Milton L. Hauft as the preparer of the returns.

One return was the individual return submitted by Baker and his wife, Dorothy. The other was the partnership return of the Carousel Motel in Ocean City, Md.

Minister Hits Church Teaching

BUCK HILL FALLS, Pa. (AP)—A religious leader said Thursday much that the church teaches its youth about sex and marriage "is so obviously unrelated to the real situation that it is not surprising the authority and wisdom of the church is in question."

The Rev. Dr. Paul R. Abrecht said this applies to teaching on subjects of personal, community and social responsibility generally.

The head of the Department of Church and Society of the World Council of Churches told 200 delegates to the U.S. conference for the WCC that "the church must not fear creative possibilities available in modern scientific approaches to society."

Souvanna Gets Rightist Offer

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—A rightist junta Thursday offered to return full control in Laos to neutralist Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma if he enlarges the government with additional rightist leaders.

500 Barrels Of Beer Drunk

BULWICK, England (AP) — The proprietor of a local pub threw a party Thursday for a customer he figures drank more than 500 barrels of beer over the years.

"I've worked it out," explained pubkeeper Philip Carlisle of the Queen's Head, "that in his lifetime Walter Parkins has consumed 507 barrels, or nearly 15 lorry (truck) loads of beer."

"In harvest time—when I'm dry—I often drink 14 pints of an evening," said Parkins, 63.

The beer for the party was on the house.

Factory Sale To Reds Considered

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is seriously considering the sale of a synthetic rubber plant to Communist Romania, authoritative sources reported Thursday.

Should the sale be made, it will represent a major change of course in U.S. relations with Communist-bloc nations, going outside usual trade patterns.

Rails Hit Record High

NEW YORK (AP) — Rails paced the stock market to an early rally Thursday but the rest of the list faded later, leaving a pattern of irregular decline. Rails were up to a record high on average.

Trading was heavy, swelling to 6.69 million shares from 5.42 million Wednesday. It was the largest since April 2 when 6.84 million shares changed hands.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which showed a gain of 3.72 at the end of the first half-hour, ended the day with a loss of 1.33 at 822.24.

PRESIDENT PLANS APPALACHIAN TOUR — President Johnson gestures during news conference held in the sunlit Rose Garden outside his White House office. He told reporters that he plans a tour of the depressed Appalachian area on April 24. (Ap Wirephoto)

LBJ: Fair Demonstrators 'Served No Good Purpose'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson said Thursday he pities "rude" civil rights demonstrators, plans a new cut in defense spending, and wants to discuss foreign policy with potential presidential candidates.

Meeting reporters in the sun-drenched White House rose garden outside his office, Johnson made these pronouncements:

1. Civil rights demonstrators like those "who seemed insistent on being rude" during the President's trip Wednesday to the New York World's Fair "serve no good purpose—either of promoting the cause they profess to support or of disrupting that cause."

Pities Them

Saying, "I pitied them," Johnson declared the civil rights cause will not be stopped "either by fanaticism or rudeness."

2. More militry bases will be closed and noncombat ctivities will be curbed to save an ddtional $68 million a year. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara will announce the details Friday.

3. The President would like to confer now with presidential aspirants to get suggestions on "the wise course to pursue" in foreign policy.

Johnson said, "I just don't know who speaks for them"—the Republicns — and added, with respect to South Viet Nam, "some of them want more war in that area and some want more appeasement." He said he wants eventually to "talk over the problems of the world" and try to unite on what is "best for our country."

4. In an effort to keep foreign policy from developing into a "partisan, knockdown, dragout" election issue, intelligence briefings will be offered to Republicans Sen. Barry Goldwater, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Gov. William W. Scranton of Penn- Sen. Margaret Chase Smith and Democratic Gov. George C. Wallace.

Lodge Informed

He said Henry Cabot Lodge already gets much of these data in his post as ambssador to South Viet Nam.

5. Johnson will travel to South Bend, Ind., Pittsburgh, Pa., Paintsville and Inez, Ky., and Huntington, W.Va., on Friday to visit areas of economic distress. He will meet governors of the Appalachian states at Huntington and, perhaps, hold another news conference afterward.

6. The President expects a step-up in the anti-Communist war in South Viet Nam will cost more money. And he expressed hope "that we would see some other flags in there, other nations," to help in a united attempt to whip the Communist guerrillas.

Opening the conference with an announcement of the potential presidential candidates who will be offered intelligence Johnson said:

"We recognize that some of these gentlemen may not consider they are candidates, but it does not seem appropriate for us to attempt to make that decision for them."

He indicated some of the briefing material, to be supplied by the Central Intelligence Agency, the Pentagon and the State Department, will be secret. But he emphasized, "none of us will use any secret information on the campaign."

East Germans Blast Peking Overtures

BERLIN (AP)—East German Communists accuse Red China of demanding that they break with the Soviet Union and thus help split West Germany away from the United States.

This bomb — which likely means the Soviet-Chinese dispute is deeper than ever—was exploded in a speech by East German Politburo member Herman Matern, reported Thursday by the official Communist news agency ADN.

The accusation spotlighted Soviet fears that the Red Chinese seek to set up what the Soviets call an "intermediate zone" in competition with both the U.S.S.R. and the United States. This "third world," the Soviets have been saying, would by Chinese calculation include West European nations.

Matern said the Chinese demand envisioned complete abandonment of East Germany as the western vanguard of the Communist system in Europe and a "new edition of the Germany policy of the Beria clique."

Lavrenty P. Beria, Stalin-era secret police chief who was executed nine months after Stalin's death, had been accused of plotting to liquidate the Communist regime in East Germany.

It was also "demanded that we abandon our cooperation with Comecon" — Moscow's Communist Council for Mutual Economic Assistance—and that "we accept the adventurist, anti-Marxist conception of the Chinese party leaders," Matern said.

"The Chinese leaders, according to their thesis that the chief enemy of the Communist camp is United States imperialism, is even ready to cooperate with class enemies."

This is an echo of Soviet complaints in the official Moscow press that the Chinese were regarding West Germany, France, Italy, Britain and Japan as potential allies against the United States, on grounds that these countries should be regarded as "under the bondage of American imperialism."

Mao Tze-tung, leader of Chinese communism and now the butt of Soviet Premier Khrushchev's scornful criticism, is reported already to have proposed an "intermediate zone" to French politicians and even to have suggested setting up a formal central organization for it.

Wildcat Rail Strike Fear Evaporates

WASHINGTON (AP) — The threat of a wildcat strike evaporated as quickly as it arose Thursday and President Johnson congratulated the men who broke the long, bitter railroad work rules stalemate.

"Well, fellows, you did a great job. I'm mighty proud of you and the nation is mighty proud of you," Johnson told negotiators for both sides.

Johnson, who shepherded the historic labor agreement through 13 days of emergency talks, led the negotiators and federal mediators out into the sun-drenched White House rose garden for a picture-taking session.

Mediators will start Monday at the Labor Department working with the two sides in translating the basic agreement reached Wednesday night into contract language. It was estimated this would take no more than a week. Ratification by the unions is expected within 10 days after that.

H. E. Gilbert, president of the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Firemen and Enginemen, told newsmen later that the settlement of the five-year-old dispute could not have been achieved without Johnson's efforts.

"He added that element needed to break the log jam," Gilbert said.

Monroe Votes Four Districts; Rejects Single School Plan

By Gil Murray
Daily Record Reporter

STROUDSBURG — The Monroe County School Board took an historic step last night when it voted 3-2 to abolish 18 individual township school boards and reorganize county schools into four separate administrative units. But Eldred Township said it would appeal the plan.

The split vote rejected any move to combine all county districts into a single unit.

The vote was spurred on by a motion submitted by John Baymor of Stroud Union. He drew a second from Dr. Edmund Magann of Pocono Mountain Joint Schools.

The deciding vote was cast by David Hutchinson of East Stroudsburg Area Schools.

Voting Against

Voting against the four-district motion were the board's other two members, James Bunnell of East Stroudsburg area and Jerome Blakeslee of Pleasant Valley Joint Schools.

Immediately after the vote was taken Hutchinson remarked: "We will gather our appeals where they fall."

He was referring to seven school districts which favored a single county unit, and could upset the four-district plans by appeal.

A plan of reorganization will now be drafted by the county school superintendent's office and submitted to the Department of Public Instruction in Harrisburg.

The four new districts will be the same as the present Stroud Union and East Stroudsburg, Pleasant Valley and Pocono Mountain Joint Districts.

Under the new plan each district will have a single tax rate and will be operated by a nine-member school board. This means Stroud Union must add two directors to its seven-man board. The other three districts face a reduction from their present larger joint committees.

On File

The plan must remain on file in the county superintendent's office for 30 days, during which any aggrieved school district can file an appeal to the plan.

Townships favoring a single county unit and possible appellants are Porter, Price, Polk, Ross, Eldred and Chestnuthill and East Stroudsburg Borough.

The plan must be submitted to Harrisburg within 60 days.

After the vote, John Litts, county superintendent, commented to the board: "We have a whale of a lot of work ahead of us. I am glad you did something one way or the other."

Recalled Plan

The board had voted for a four-district plan in November, 1963, but recalled the plan because of technicality in Act 299, which requires consultation with each district before a final vote.

Last night the board also went on record as being unanimously opposed to any attempt by Eldred Township to withdraw from the county school system and join the Palmerton Union School District. Palmerton has voted to accept Eldred.

Litts read a letter from Eldred's solicitor informing the board that a formal appeal to a four-district plan will be filed by that township.

The inclusion of Eldred in the Pleasant Valley district is necessary to obtain automatic approval by the Basic Council of Education.

Act 299 stipulates no plan will be approved if it contains a unit with a smaller pupil population or more units than were contained in the last countywide plan submitted to the DPI. The last plan was submitted in 1961.

Without Eldred Township the Pleasant Valley district will have approximately 200 fewer pupils.

The plan will now go to the basic council where it will receive automatic approval. If any appeals are attached the plan will then go to the State Council of Education.

The state council can either approve the plan by turning down the appeal or it can uphold the appeal and draw up a new plan that would then become the recognized plan for the county.

No Assurance

Commenting on these possibilities, Dr. Magann said, "We have no assurance that we will end up with this plan."

The board also instructed Litts to set up a date for a meeting with Fred Glanding, area co-ordinator for the state's vocational - technical training school law.

The board will meet with Glanding to discuss a possible bi-county plan for such a school.

Litts told the board plans for a vocational school must be submitted to Harrisburg by Jan. 1, 1965. He suggested the possibility of Monroe County joining with either Pike County or the northern part of Northampton County.

219 Arrested In Chester Clashes

CHESTER, Pa. (AP) — Chester High School, one of 18 public schools closed because of civil rights demonstrations, will be reopened Monday morning, school officials announced Thursday.

Mrs. Frances P. Donahoo, president of the school board, said that if there are no further incidents the junior high schools and elementary schools would be reopened Tuesday. Some 11,000 students and 500 teachers are affected in the shutdown.

In the wake of demonstrations Wednesday night marked by a clash of police and demonstrators, injuries to several persons and 219 arrests, there were these other developments Thursday:

A second reporter for the Philadelphia Bulletin was arrested. A Bulletin reporter suffered a broken nose when he was arrested Wednesday night.

Six more members of the Chester Human Relations Commission announced they submitted their resignations to Mayor James H. Gorbey. This reduces the 25-member commission to six.

A planned mass meeting n the morning failed to materialize as many civil rights leaders were among those arrested and still in jail.

Phillip Savage, tri-state secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, charged that city and state police clubbed demonstrators without provocation in Wednesday night's demonstrations. He said charges will be filed against policemen.

A court suit by the Chester School Board against the NAACP and the Committee for Freedom Now was removed by petition from the Delaware County Court to the U.S. District Court in Philadelphia. A ruling is requested on whether de facto segregation exists in Chester schools and whether the city must bus pupils out of present districts.

The announcement by Mrs. Donahoo came shortly after the Chester Parents Association, a group of white parents, demanded the reopening of the schools and the preservation of law and order. The group sent President Johnson a telegram asking federal protection if necessary.

Demonstrations have been sponsored by the Chester Committee For Freedom Now and the Chester branch of the NAACP in protest of alleged de facto segregation in the schools. The school board denies this.

The Bulletin reporter arrested Thursday was William H. Lawrence. He was taken into custody when he went to police headquarters to await the release of a colleague, Timothy Tyler, 23, who suffered a broken nose and was arrested Wednesday night while covering the demonstrations.

After spending 90 minutes in a cell, Lawrence was released without any charges being filed against him.

Rights Bill Confidence In Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate leaders of both parties spoke confidently Thursday of reaching agreement on an across-the-board jury trial amendment to the House civil rights bill.

As the Senate droned through the 38th day of debate on the measure, an air of optimism welled from behind-the-scenes conferences that a key compromise was in the making. It would open the way for the first real break in the steady flow of talk.

While the compromise effort has plenty of hurdles to clear, it seemed to have generated a feeling among leaders that the Senate's marathon civil rights battle might be brought to an end sooner than previously anticipated.

The feeling was perhaps best summed up by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., the assistant majority leader and floor manager of the bill.

"As a matter of fact, gentlemen," he told reporters, "things are looking great."

Compromise efforts were directed primarily at the issue of jury trials in criminal contempt cases but talks also were under way aimed at reconciling differences over other controversial aspects of the measure.

Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois worked throughout the day at framing a substitute for a jury trial amendment called up for debate Tuesday night by Sen. Herman Talmadge D-Ga.

Scranton Urged To Take Hand In Chester Crisis

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Pennsylvania Equal Rights Council urged Gov. Scranton Thursday to intervene in a dispute between civil rights groups and the Chester School Board.

In a telegram to Gov. Scranton signed by Chairman Walter Gay Jr., the Equal Rights Council said:

"In view of bloodshed and danger of further bloodshed attending the breakdown of negotiations in the Chester school situation, we urge you to intervene personally.

"Irrespective of any court decision pro or con in the matter, the Chester School Board has a moral responsibility to attempt to alleviate the effects of defacto segregation in the schools. We urge this as a basis for your effort to bring together the parties in the dispute."

Goldwater Pooh-Poohs Briefings

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson opened the administration's intelligence files Thursday to Republicans who might be nominated to challenge him for the White House. And he said he wants to talk with them personally to help chart "the wise course" in foreign affairs.

His offer of intelligence briefings for major Republican presidential contenders was quickly rejected by Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater.

Goldwater called it a "basically unwise, offhand political gesture" that could be used to muffle Republicans who want to challenge administration foreign policy.

Through a spokesman, Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine accepted the invitation and added she would be "delighted to confer with the President any time he calls, on anything."

At Johnson's behest, Secretary of State Dean Rusk sent invitations to six Republicans and a dissident Democrat to hear intelligence briefings from him. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Director John A. McCone of the Central Intelligence Agency.

The Democrat is Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace who has campaigned against Johnson slates in a handful of presidential primary states. In Indianapolis, Wallace declined comment on the offer.

"I didn't know anything about it," he said.

The other Republicans are New York Gov. Nelson A Rockefeller, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, former Minnesota Gov. Harold E. Stassen and Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania.

"Naturally, it doesn't apply to me — I'm not a presidential aspirant," said Scranton. But the Pennsylvania governor said he would accept an invitation because "I like to be informed about everything in our government."

Johnson said Henry Cabot Lodge, another Republican presidential possibility, "has access to all the information which he needs" as ambassador to South Viet Nam.

Throngs Flock To Fair

NEW YORK (AP) — Clear skies, balmy temperatures and a marked absence of civil rights demonstrations sent attendance figures spiraling Thursday at the New York World's Fair.

By 10 p.m., 131,890 had spun the turnstiles, compared with 87,039 at the same time on opening day.

The sunny weather and pleasant mood at the 646-acre exposition site contrasted directly with the rain-chilled, picket-plagued fair Wednesday.

Gaiety prevailed as throngs of excited children, touring in groups which appeared to be entire school classes, viewed the fair's many wonders.

King Hussein of Jordan, and his royal party, spent the day on the grounds.

The Ford Motor Co. pavilion, which was shut Wednesday because of a demonstration of pickets claiming racial bias, reopened.

One group of demonstrators jeered as President Johnson spoke Wednesday during dedication of the U.S. Pavilion. The President said Thursday in Washington that he had noticed a few pickets whom he considered rude, but assessed their conduct with compassion.

"I pity them," Johnson said. "They served no good purpose."

More than 300 persons were arrested Wednesday in connection with demonstrations inside and outside the fair. Some had to be carried bodily from the Florida State Pavilion where they conducted a lie-in demonstration.

One civil rights activity Thursday was blocking momentarily of a subway train en route to the fair by a man who lay down on the tracks. Police arrested him on a charge of disturbing the peace.

As an aftermath of earlier demonstrations, the Justice Department in Washington said it would look into an accusation New York City police manhandled demonstrators.

Much of the official fair activity Thursday centered on pavilion dedications and formal openings.

LBJ Delivers Mail In Person

CHICAGO (AP) — President Johnson, in a muted political appeal tailored for a Democratic fund-raising dinner, said Thursday night his party must think "not only of the next election but of the next generation."

On arrival at O'Hare, the Johnson party was greeted by 500 to 800 official and unofficial Illinois residents, including a grade school girl who received special presidential attention.

The President greeted an excited, 7-year-old Park Forest, Ill., girl waiting in the unofficial welcoming party.

She is Cathy May Baker, whose letter of two weeks ago President Johnson read Wednesday evening as he announced resolution of the railroad dispute.

Johnson picked the jubilant second-grader up, held her on his shoulder, posing for photographers, and chatted at some length with her and her parents.

High Court Told To Keep 'Noses Out Of Religion'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Howard W. Smith, D-Va., urged Congress Thursday to "tell the Supreme Court to keep their noses out of religion."

Smith, testifying at hearings by the House Judiciary Committee on proposed constitutional amendments to permit prayers in public schools, said a simple solution is available.

"Congress can pass a law saying the Supreme Court has no jurisdiction in the field of religion," he said, then added: "Of course, this court might say that's unconstitutional."

Smith brushed aside the legal complexities involved in the proposed changes in the First Amendment, saying to the committee, "You fellows can get around it."

"The only trouble," replied Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., "is that when you have 35 lawyers working on something you sometimes have 40 opinions."

Smith urged the Judiciary Committee to approve some form of amendment that would undo the Supreme Court's decisions banning official school prayers and required Bible reading. Otherwise, he forecast, the matter will be taken directly to the House floor by petition of a majority of the members.

"I think we're reaching the end of the road as to whether we're going to be a religious nation," Smith said, "we've got to do something to stop the Supreme Court."

He said a bill that would inscribe the words "In God We Trust" in the Supreme Court chamber has been blocked in the House by the opposition of the court.

Rep. Louis C. Wyman, R-N.H., a former attorney general of his state, engaged in a long discussion of the constitutional issues involved in the suggested amendments.

Under questioning by Rep. Roland V. Libonati, D-Ill., Wyman acknowledged that the proposed changes might lead to "a slight erosion" of the present First Amendment guarantees on the separation of church and state, but he added:

"You don't have to be constitutional expert to know the founding fathers came over here to pray."

Tuesday Primary

Barry Team Says Scranton Must Total 80 Pct. Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater's campaign forces said Thursday if Gov. William W. Scranton doesn't capture 80 per cent of the vote in Pennsylvania's presidential primary he will have been rejected by Republicans in his own state.

The Arizona senator's camp coupled with an accusation that Pennsylvania state workers have been enlisted to help bolster Scranton's showing next Tuesday.

No Forecast

"It would be suicide to predict any figure," countered a leader of the write-in drive for the Pennsylvania governor, who has declared that only a sincere draft could make him the GOP presidential candidate. "We're not making any forecast," said Rep. Richard Schweiker, R-Pa., the Scranton backer.

With the primary five days away, Goldwater's director of field operations said Scranton "has everything going for him to make an outstanding showing next Tuesday."

"If he does not win big in his own home state, he must expect Republicans everywhere to ask where can Scranton win," added Richard J. Kleindienst.

Back-Handed Slap

His statement sounded like a back-handed slap at political observers who rated Goldwater's showing in the Illinois primary less than a victory.

In a state rated solid Goldwater county, the senator polled about 64 per cent of the presidential primary vote. Some observers said the senator needed 80 per cent for a real victory.

Schweiker said he'll leave it to political analysts to figure out what Tuesday's primary proves. But he conceded "we will be badly hurt if Scranton gets a small vote or if Goldwater polls more votes than he does."

Machine Vote

He said much of Pennsylvania's voting is done on machines which will make write-in votes difficult. He said the Scranton forces have been able to reach relatively few of Pennsylvania's 2.6 million Republicans with their mail campaign.

"We've had only a few weeks to put this thing together," he added. "I certainly wouldn't expect any overwhelming write-in. What we'll get I don't know."

State News Roundup

Snavely Fights 'Persecution'

LEBANON, Pa. (UPI) — An attorney representing James N. Snavely, the central figure in a public school Bible reading case here, plans to challenge the legality of the arrest of his client last February on a dog law violation charge.

Attorney L. E. Meyer said he will file a bill of exceptions to the arrest on grounds of "illegal procedure." Snavely, 39, was arrested Feb. 10 at his North Lebanon Twp. home.

At that time, Snavely contended the arrest constituted "persecution" because of a suit filed on his behalf by the American Civil Liberties Union against the permissive Bible reading policy of the Cornwall-Lebanon School District.

A federal court subsequently banned all Bible reading in the district, pending a review of the school system's later policy of Bible reading as a literary and historical effort.

Youths Steal 1,300 Papers

WILKES-BARRE (AP)—Two 16-year-old Wyoming, Pa., youths—their names withheld because of their ages—are to appear in juvenile court here Friday in connection with the theft of more than 1300 copies of the Wilkes-Barre Record. The boys allegedly took the papers in the early hours of the morning after they were dropped off at various points for paperboys to deliver.

Philly Port Back To Normal

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Port of Philadelphia operated normally Thursday as longshoremen returned to work after a one-day sympathy walkout.

The men demonstrated in sympathy with longshoremen picketing the U.S. Steel Corp. Fairless Works at nearby Morrisville in protest against loading of the S.S. Columbia by members of the steelworkers union.

Longshoremen continued to picket the plant Thursday in reduced numbers in accordance with a Bucks County Court injunction barring mass picketing.

The company reported operations were normal and said the vessel would sail Friday for the west coast.

Thieves Steal Only Caddies

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Three men accused of stealing only brand-new, air-conditioned Cadillacs were being held Thursday while the Federal Bureau of Investigation checked into the possibility they were members of an interstate auto theft ring.

Police said two of the men were arrested by Det. Herbert Rhoads of the plainclothes squad after they offered to sell him new Cadillacs at cut-rate prices. The automobiles were believed stolen.

The third man was arrested when he drove to the jail in another new Cadillac to try and bail out one of the other men.

Clark Raps Philly Demo Chairman

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., said Thursday the Philadelphia Democratic chairman is using the "same tired old technique" which lost the senatorial election for the Republicans in 1962.

A Clark letter to the chairman, Francis R. Smith, stemmed from Smith's letter to a Democratic committeeman who is supporting Miss Genevieve Blatt, Pennsylvania secretary of internal affairs, in next Tuesday's primary.

Smith supports state Supreme Court Justice Michael A. Musmanno, the organization candidate, for the nomination.

Clark, a Blatt backer, said Smith's description of the virtues of Musmanno were reminiscent of GOP descriptions of former Rep. James Van Zandt, R-Pa., by the GOP in 1962. Clark defeated Van Zandt that year.

"You can't elect a man to the U.S. senate just because he is a veteran, and just by calling me names," Clark said. "The Republicans did just that in 1962 and lost. I can't understand why you are now, two years later, using the same tired old technique. I had given you credit for being a better politician, but I see I was wrong."

Clark's office said the Smith letter was sent to all Democratic committeemen in Philadelphia and one of them, who Clark declined to identify, forwarded it to the senator.

Hectic World In Short

How's this for stupidity?

A 17 century old glass adorned with a Bacchus and a nymph carrying an amphora of wine was shattered at the National Museum of Naples recently.

The priceless glass was shattered during a scuffle between a group of teen-age students and a museum guard.

The glass, known as the Saepinum Glass from the name of the Abruzzi region tomb where it was found in 1919, was made by Neapolitan artisans in the second half of the third century A.D.

Police gave this account of the incident:

A teacher, leading a group of girls visiting the museum, complained to museum guard Angelo Bosnia some boys were chasing the girls around statues and precious glassware.

The guard asked the boys to leave.

The guard was quoted as saying that the boys attacked him and the case containing the glass toppled.

The natives were truly glad to see their leader in Kashmir. But the leader wished they weren't so glad to see him.

Kashmir's independence leader Sheikah Mohammed Abdullah was in bed this week recovering from the effects of an overly enthusiastic welcome on his return from 11 years imprisonment in India.

One of the triumphas arches erected in his honor in Sprinagar Saturday collapsed on him during a homecoming parade, severely bruising his chest and right side. He also developed a fever.

How's this for persistence?

For a month now four Ryukyu strikers have been perched atop a 131-foot smokestack in Naha, Okinawa in a situp strike.

They went up the chimney of the U.S.-owned Okinawa Plywood Co. and say they won't come down until their demands are met. The company says it won't discuss the demands until they come down.

The strikers borrowed two 6-foot slabs of the company's plywood to make their perch comfortable. Food and water is hoisted up by the few other workers who joined the strike.

Henry Ford II emphatically denied this week that Ford Motor Co. is planning any auto price cuts.

Ford chairman of the board of Ford Motor Co., said he was deeply disturbed at weekend rumors of possible price cuts, including autos.

"All this talk about cutting car prices is hurting the economy," Ford said. "People hear these things and they hold off on buying. The Ford Motor Co. has no intention whatsoever of cutting prices."

Redistricting Appeal Goes To Court

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has sked the Supreme Court of the United States to review a federal court judgment invalidating the Legislative Reapportionment Act of 1963.

Ay. Gen. Walter E. Alessandroni announced filing the appeal from a decision of a three-member federal court panel handed down at Scranton April 9.

The three-judge court held that the legislative act reapportioning districts of the State Senate and House of Representatives violated the 14th Amendment to the U. S. Constitution. Specifically, the judges found that the act provided for disproportionate representation for different political subdivisions.

Alessandroni posed to the high court in Washington six specific questions which, in effect, ask whether portions of Pennsylvania's 90-year-old Constitution is unconstitutional under federal law.

The question asked:

—Is a provision of the State Constitution guaranteeing each of the 67 counties, regardless of population, at least one member in the state House of Representatives "invidious and irrational discrimination against citizens of the more populous counties . . ."

Whether a provision of the State Constitution establishing a formula for assignment of House representation violates the U.S. Constitution.

—Whether provisions of the state's basic law allowing election at-large of House members in multi-member districts.

—Whether a provision limiting Philadelphia to eight state senators violates the U.S. Constitution.

Our Man In Washington

This is your Congressman in Washington—FRED B. ROONEY. He has done a good job — for you — for your neighbors — your family. He went to Washington as your representative — and he has made serving all the people of the 15th Congressional District a full-time job! He has fought for Federal aid to hard-pressed communities in Carbon, Northampton, Monroe and Pike Counties. Since he went to Washington nine months ago he has pushed through $5 million in grants and loans for our local communities. He is fighting for jobs, for government contracts for local industry using local labor. He is fighting for decent health care for older citizens and better education for your children and mine. He is young — but he has five years of service in the Pennsylvania State Senate behind him. He knows your problems — and he knows how to get things done in Congress. Right now, if you are a registered Democrat, he needs your help. He needs your vote on April 28th. LET'S KEEP A GOOD MAN ON THE JOB! VOTE FOR

A County Planner

A full-time, paid, professional county planning director should be hired by the Monroe County Commissioners to work with the Monroe County Planning Commission.

Selection of this planner should be high on the priority list for action by the commission, which should recommend it to the county commissioners.

Why should Monroe County hire a $9,000 to $10,000-a-year planner?

James Hertz of the Bureau of Community Development of the Pennsylvania Department of Commerce told the county planning commission Tuesday that such a county planner could be paid through a two-thirds planning assistance grant from state and federal governments.

The county taxpayers would pay one third, or about $3,000 of his salary.

The county planner would ideally be a Monroe County resident, if a qualified man can be found here. If not, the man hired would become a county resident familiar with this area and interested in its future, rather than an outside professional planner interested primarily in a specific job.

As Hertz suggested, the county planning director would prepare a general design for long-range planning in the county, apply for federal assistance, lead an active campaign of public information on planning and zoning, and make an annual report on the county, its planning and its future.

The most important part of his job at first would be the education of Monroe County residents, civic and political leaders and office-holders on the need for planning and zoning regulations.

The county planning director should speak to the public frequently on mechanics and purposes of planning and zoning. He should explain the steps toward creation of township planning commissions, township master plans and regulations to township supervisors who are responsible for action.

He could carry out preliminary economic, population, school and building surveys to establish areas of need for planning future growth and public projects.

After a first phase of educating the public and encouraging township planning action, the county planning director should be available to the township supervisors and planning commissions to help them get started.

He could save all the townships money and wasted time in the first stages of their planning programs by helping them to do as much as possible without federal aid and professional planning consultants. They are needed later for detailed planning and preparation of zoning regulations.

A county planning director could prepare simple regulations for subdivisions, signs, sewage disposal and other problems to save townships the expenses of formal contracts with professional planning consultants for work which can be done without them.

He will cost the county a limited sum of money, but a professional county planning director could save the townships—which must carry out the real work of planning and zoning—a great deal of time, money and mistakes.

The Railroad Settlement

Settlement of the five-year-old railroad work rules dispute under heavy pressure from President Johnson is nothing short of a miracle. A nationwide railroad strike seemed almost a certainty a few days ago.

But President Johnson dragged the warring parties to the White House, locked them up in continuous negotiation, and insisted on a "freely-negotiated" settlement. He got that after it appeared at the outset that he would have to turn again to Congress for special legislation.

Railroad management gave ground on several points. Railroad unions gave ground on several points. But both sides won major demands.

This is a classic example of a negotiated labor dispute. But the methods used to arrive at the settlement were unorthodox, and unprecedented.

President Johnson was obviously bubbling with pride when he announced the agreement. He could fairly claim much credit for the peaceful solution of an explosive issue which remained unsolved for five bitter years.

The President wasted no time in making political hay.

In a pitch for the under-21 vote, he quoted a letter from a seven-year-old girl who wanted the railroad to keep running so her grandmother could ride from New York to Illinois for her first communion.

"Cathy May, if you are watching tonight, I am pleased to tell you that railroads are going to continue to run without interruption," the President said in his television announcement.

It was real political corn. But the railroad settlement will be a feather in Johnson's Presidential hat.

Comment Of The Day

"I pitied them. They served no good purpose. But the march toward civil rights won't be stopped either by fanaticism or rudeness."

Captivating Gab

By George Dixon

WASHINGTON — Conversation plays a large part in making Washington the most fascinating place on earth. The funny thing is that some of the most captivating gab starts out as the least promising. Here is a report of the conversational give-and-take at a Sunday brunch:

Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin opened with a question that betokened no promise whatsoever. He asked Mexican Ambassador Antonio Carrillo Flores whom he thought President Johnson would ultimately choose for his Vice Presidential running mate.

The Mexican Ambassador said he'd heard the question asked some place before. Mrs. Luvie Pearson said she thought she'd heard it somewhere too. The Russian Ambassador conceded it might not be an entirely novel question. Howard K. Smith, the television commentator, said that if the Mexican Ambassador didn't care to answer the question, he's be glad to.

"I think it will be Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota — provided he doesn't do too well," said Mr. Smith.

The Russian envoy shook his head as if he had ear trouble. The TV fellow amplified:

"Senator Humphrey is leading the fight for civil rights in the Senate. If he scores a big victory, the President won't need him on the ticket. If Humphrey loses, the President will have to take him, or it would look as if he were repudiating him."

"I know that you mean," said the Mexican Ambassador. "I used to be my country's Minister of Finance. On April 17, 1954, I devalued the peso. There was a terrific outcry from both the rich and the poor. I was the most unpopular man in all Mexico.

"I went to Ruiz Cortines, who was then our President, and offered to resign. He said: 'I can't let you quit. If I let you resign, the people will say I am repudiating my own policy.' They'll ask, 'If Carrillo Flores is so bad you are letting him go, why did you appoint him in the first place?'"

The Soviet Ambassador said he thought he got the point. Then he told the Mexican Ambassador he was sorry he was quitting diplomacy.

Carrillo Flores stared. He asked Dobrynin what he was talking about.

"I hear," said the Soviet envoy, "that you are resigning as Ambassador in December to become chairman of the Mexico Telephone Company."

"That's supposed to be a secret!" cried Carrillo Flores. "But it's true. How did you hear I was going with the telephone company?"

"By telephone," deadpanned the Russian.

Rep. Adam Clayton Powell of New York has been overexercising his prodigious sense of humor lately.

He tells Democratic colleagues that he is the logical candidate to run with President Johnson for the Vice Presidency. When he feels he has a sufficiently curious audience, he explains:

Gleason Loves Poconos

(Editor's Note: The following article was written by Bob Clark, managing editor of The Daily Record for the Pocono Mountains supplement in the New York Times. The story will appear with other features of the Poconos in Sunday's edition of The Times).

Stroudsburg — "And away we go."

Countless times the world's greatest piece of show business machinery has made this statement and shot to the Pocono Mountains for a breather.

The expression is a patented Jackie Gleason quote heard by millions of viewers on coast-to-coast Columbia Broadcasting System television hookup. While it has intrigued the video audience, it also reminds residents of the Poconos that the celebrated comedian is "one of theirs", entertaining lovers of good clean fun across The Fifty.

"The Great One" is as much a part of the Poconos as the mountains themselves. While a busy schedule keeps the most publicized stage, screen and air figure on the go the year around, Gleason still finds the time to get in 36 to 72 holes of golf at Fred Waring's spacious Shawnee—In-The-Poconos course overlooking the Delaware River.

Jackie loves the Poconos if for no other reason than its accessibility to the two metropolitan cities of New York and Philadelphia. Naturally with his base of operations more often than not in the Gotham, Jackie can sneak away from city life for a round of golf, visit with "congenial people," and battle with a large-size steak or a plate or two of spaghetti.

The familiar Gleason byword, "How sweet it is," refers to many things — girls, alcohol, fun, pals. But it could also emphasize his jaunts to the site of relaxation — the Poconos.

Gleason loves life. The Poconos, with its beautiful hills and streams and extra-curricular activities provides the pleasure for a man blessed with the many talents of Jackie. Whether it be a night of guzzling — Gleason is the king of the hill in this department — or turning the pasteboards — cards to sharks — Jackie is able to blend business with pleasure.

But it is on the links that the oft-time resident of Shawnee shines. It is no exaggeration to learn Gleason burned the midnight oil to 2 a.m. and was at the first tee at 6 a.m. for the first of 72 holes of marathon golf. Usually he slashes away 36 in the ayem, puts away a big meal at dinner, and tops it off with 36 more holes in the afternoon. Then, so to speak, he is on free time.

Gleason can't be considered the perfect model for the President's Physical Fitness Program but the man who rose from rags to riches "gives it a fair go, Yank" on the links. Despite using golf carts all the time — he has one for every hole — Jackie rips the air enough in 72 holes to qualify for the junior fitness medal.

It is not all play in the Poconos for the guy who keeps Saturday night's television alive with fun for the whole family. On many of his so-called vacations, Jackie goes over up-coming show material, dissects future programs and muses over prospective hit recordings during lulls in golf sojurns.

He is a demon for punishment this fellow who grew up in Brooklyn when the Dodgers were actually The Bums. Take for example a charitable venture a few years ago when he braved blustery winds and "real cool" temperatures to put on a show with Sam Snead, Art Wall Jr. and Fred Waring at Shawnee.

Wall, a Poconos golf favorite on the play-for-pay trail, and Snead, the drawling West Virginian, were used to the elements. Gleason and Waring, however, were linksmen more used to the inside at this time of the year — October. But when the sortie was over it was Jackie who not only kept the crowd warm throughout with his antics but who also gave the assembled the feeling, "this trip was necessary."

Gleason found a second home in the Poconos a decade ago. He made the trip through Delaware Water Gap with such famous names as the late Ernie Kovacs and Swinging Sammy Kaye, Perry Como and a host of entertaining world celebrities. While the other stars came and went, Gleason found the lure more to his liking and made more than just a few invasions over the low-year period.

His executive producer, Jack Philbin, the name you see going up your TV screen when the Gleason theme is played at the end of the program, and Bob Christenberry, postmaster of New York City, are just a few who you might see in the Gleason foursome early in the morning at Shawnee.

"Really Relax"

An extremist, Gleason finds he can "really relax" in the Poconos. "The idea man" who is a short sleeper, blends a heavy schedule with relaxation that would do justice to the Waring mixer. Periodically he'll pull away from mountainous work and drive through the mountains for a look at this and a stop at that, enjoying every minute of his stayy whether it be only for a weekend or a month.

The Poconos take to Gleason like a duck takes to water. Out of 10,000 TV screens in the mountains it has been estimated close to 9,000 zero in when Jackie appears on the Saturday night show. No video program so completely captivated the Poconos' audience during the October to April span.

The feeling appears mutual, too. The lover of Poconos charcoal broiled and Chinese dishes loves the time he can spend in the mountains. It is sort of a payoff for TV viewers' admiration during the winter and spring.

Gleason claims to be the best pool player, best drinker, best golfer, and best after-dark hell-raiser. He is all that, plus the best showman who ever stepped before floodlights to the Pocono residents, as one mountaineer said;

"He is Jackie Gleason the rotund one who is the best show business ever offered for everyone's entertaining consumption. We're glad he's one of our boys."

The Pennsylvania Story

Local Contest Spotlight

By Mason Denison

HARRISBURG — Reporter's Notebook:

Strike Up The Band — Tuesday is primary election day in Pennsylvania in this presidential election year 1964 but the big show in the Keystone State quite definitely isn't in the so-called "name candidates" this time; rather it will be found in the hustings where local contests have been snappy and sharp, particularly on the local legislative front.

Neither major party has candidates on the ballot in the presidential primary, although spaces will be provided for the (Scranton) write-ins . . . Interestingly, of the four statewide offices up this year (U.S. Senator, Superior Court, State Auditor General and State Treasurer), Republicans have only one tiff on their hands, that being in the "contest" (it can hardly be called that!) for the U.S. Senate seat between incumbent Hugh Scott and W. Henry McFarland, of Philadelphia.

Pennsylvania Democrats on the other hand have contests for all the statewide offices with the exception of State Treasurer where (current Auditor General) Thomas Z. Minehart is unopposed.

Among The "Also-Rans" — In addition to the standard Democratic and Republican candidates there are a few others on the statewide front this year.

The "Militant Workers Party" has a candidate for U.S. Senate, Morris Chertov, of Philadelphia . . . The "Socialist Labor Party" has fielded George S. Taylor, of Philadelphia, for the U.S. Senate seat; Aria A. Albaugh, of Pittsburgh for State Auditor General, and Herman A. Johansen, of Monroeville, for State Treasurer . . . (Presidential and vice-presidential nominees will be presented on the ballot by the Militant Workers Party and the Socialist Labor Party.)

King Coal's Return — Both bituminous and anthracite coal production increased in 1963 to lead the field in the value of mineral production in the Keystone State, according to the State Department of Internal Affairs this week, which noted that overall mineral production was up seven per cent to $877 million.

Quip Of The Week — Burr-thatched Bill Keisling, affable Assistant to the Governor, when asked the other day in a secondary, facetious, side conversational note by a reporter, "How's the Governor coming along in his bid for office (referring to Mr. Scranton's presidential non-candidacy)", replied succinctly: "Wot office?"

Further Cutbacks

Paul Scott

WASHINGTON — Those fan fared U.S. and Russian reductions in fissionable material for nuclear weapons are just the beginning; more and even bigger agreements are in the works.

Some of these potential accords are quite imminent — barring last - minute upsets.

Ambassador Foy Kohler took with him a large portfolio of these new proposals when he returned to Moscow from his recent consultations in Washington. And President Johnson and Ambassador Dobrynin reviewed them in their long weekend.

These potential agreements cover a wide spectrum, as follows:

In Immediate Future

Opening of additional consulates in the two countries—initiated by President Kennedy, but aborted several times by cold war crises.

Moscow-New York air route — another Kennedy plan that has been on and off for several years.

Sale of upwards of $500 million of surplus farm commodities over a period of three or more years. The Soviet is definitely interested in such purchases despite outward indifference.

Long - term credits for the sale of so-called non-strategic goods. These would include chemical, fertilizer and plastic plants which the Reds urgently desire under the multi-billion dollar agricultural expansion program proclaimed by Khrushchev.

Long Range

Formal or informal agreement not to distribute nuclear weapons and materiaal to other nations — including Red China and France.

Joint cutback in troops by the U.S. in Europe and the Soviet in the satellites.

Destruction of the Berlin Wall in exchange for placing West Berlin and Allied access routes under United Nations control.

Neutralization of South Viet Nam in return for the supervised withdrawal of Viet Cong forces.

What's Behind It — Basis of this "grand design", as it's being pretentiously described by State Department insiders, is policies formulated and actively pursued by President Kennedy and his key foreign affairs lieutenants — who are equally influential in President Johnson's inner councils.

It was this powerfu group, spearheaded by Dr. Walt Rostow, head of the State Department's Policy Planning Council, that drafted the controlling "position paper" on U.S.-Soviet relations — which is still in full effect.

This basic policy concept, predicated on the principle that the "U.S. to the extent possible in the existing climate should grant to the USSR the position its status as a great power warrants," has been wholly accepted by President Johnson and is being vigorously pressed by him.

For that purpose, this momentous "position paper" enunciates a number of primary measures, foremost among them the following:

"The U.S. should hold out, by word and deed, the prospect of fuller Soviet participation and influence in the community of free nations if and as the Soviet leaders show a genuine interest and will for such constructive participation.

"U.S. officials should press for cooperative ventures in such fields as outer space, public health, uses of atomic energy, air travel, and cultural exchanges.

"The President should seek to avoid formal summit negotiations of the 1955 and 1960 variety, except where needed business cannot otherwise be transacted. . .One such case may be where the full authority of the head of government is needed to halt a chain of military action and counteraction leading to war.

"The President should develop informal contacts and exchanges with top Soviet leadership which would — unlike more formal summit meetings — be viewed more as a forum for communication than negotiation.

"Our long - term purpose toward the Soviet is to increase the chance of constructive evolution within that society which might eventually move it to participate in the community of free nations."

In meetings of the National Security Council and in private talks with top State Department and Pentagon leaders, President Johnson has expressed full accord with these underlying tenets and aims, and declared his determined intention to put them into effect.

Foreign Flashes —Treasury Secretary Dillion was given maximum security protection during his visit to Panama last week to attend the Inter-American Bank Conference. In addition to a large U.S. security guard, Dillion also was constantly surrounded by a number of Panamanian guards. . .West German Chancellor Erhard will make an official visit to India at a still-unfixed date. He was last there in 1958. . .A new group of 25 Cuban aviation "technicians" has arrived in Russia for three months' training in the handling of Soviet planes which make regular flights to the Red-ruled island . . .Czechoslovakia has made a deal to supply Ghana with 1,500 tractors and a farm implements plant in Accra.

Dear Abby

Speak Up, Mom!

DEAR ABBY: My problem is an eight-year-old neighbor boy who plays with my seven-year-old. He comes to my house after school with my son. We eat supper at six o'clock and the neighbor kid just stands there watching us. When I ask him to eat with us, he never refuses. Sometimes I've asked him to wait in the other room, but he always ends up back in the kitchen watching us. My son is eager to play again, so he gives us a hard time and doesn't eat very well. I've sent the neighbor boy home because of this, but in 15 minutes he is back again. On school nights they let him stay at our house until I send him home so I can get my son ready for bed. Can you help me? I am a nervous wreck.

JACKIE'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: It's not the boy's fault. He has no rules to follow. Tell his mother that YOU have rules and you need her cooperation. Tell her precisely what hours your son has for playtime, mealtime and bedtime. Explain that he isn't permitted company at mealtime or afterwards. And if she doesn't respect your wishes, don't SEND the boy home—TAKE him home.

DEAR ABBY: A serviceman came to repair our washing machine and said he had to take it to his shop to fix. When he brought it back, I was at work. A neighbor saw him trying to get into my house so she called me at work and told me what was going on. I called his employer at once and told him I didn't appreciate people going into my house while I was gone. He said that's the way everybody did nowadays. They always searched under mats, in mailboxes and all over for keys, and let themselves in. Am I out of step, Abby, or did he have a right to do this?

JUST PLAIN MAD

DEAR MAD: You are very much "in" step. And if you want to get technical, the serviceman is guilty of breaking and entering.

DEAR ABBY: My husband insists that when a man and a lady go upstairs, the woman goes first, and when they go downstairs, the man goes first. I say it's the other way around. Who is right?

ETTA KET

DEAR ETTA: When a lady goes up the stairs, the gentleman should follow her so that he can catch her should she trip. And the gentleman precedes the lady when she descends, for the same reason.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "B" IN SACRAMENTO: Watch out! The person who ducks the blood test is usually the one who needs it most.

Speaking Of Your Health:

Readers Are Asking

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Can cancer be cured or is it always fatal?

Amazing strides have been made in the control and cure of many types of cancer. When cancer is detected in its early stages, the frequency of cure is much greater than is commonly known to the cancer-fearful populace.

It is absolutely false to believe that cancer is inevitably fatal.

Rather than live in constant fear of the cancer that you probably do not have, consult your physician if any symptom persists.

Pressurized Plane

Is it safe for everybody to fly in a pressurized airplane, even with heart and lung conditions?

Pressurized cabins and available oxygen make it extremely safe for almost everyone to travel by air. There are a few special medical reasons why some people should not fly. Patients suffering a recent heart attack, severe anemia or some lung conditions such as emphysema should have the specific consent of the physician. Cases of impaired circulation and recent abdominal surgery call for similar consultation with the doctor.

When flying is absolutely necessary under these and other unusual physical circumstances, special instructions to the medical officer at the airport by your own doctor will be followed to the finest detail.

Dental X-Rays

Are there any hazards to repeated X-ray examinations of the teeth?

The low time exposure of dental X-rays makes the hazard of over-radiation almost negligible. Today most dentists limit the frequency of X-ray studies to a minimum unless there are unusual dental needs for them.

Allergic Children

Is it safe for allergic children to be given the new measles vaccine?

Even those children who were known to be allergic to eggs have reacted well to the new live measles vaccine by injection. This is particularly significant since the vaccine itself contains an egg protein.

Allergic sensitivity must not deprive children of the benefits of immunization against a disease such as measles, which still can have serious complications. Your physician should be made aware of any mild or severe allergy to eggs or to the substances, before any immunization is undertaken.

Gamma globulin, given at the time of vaccination, will further reduce the possibility of reaction to the vaccine.

"Crossed Eyes"

Do all children who have "crossed eyes" need surgery?

It is estimated that more than 90 per cent of all children with "crossed eyes" can be cured or benefited without surgery.

This is particularly true if medical treatment and eye exercises are begun as soon as this condition is noticed. The indication for glasses and surgery is, of course, dependent on the judgment of the eye specialist.

Stories Behind Words

by William S. Penfield

Free Lance

Near the end of the 13th century, when the Crusades to wrest the Holy Land from the Moslems had ended, bands of unattached knights, or soldiers, wandered over much of Europe.

These knights sold their services to a state or to an individual. When the terms of the agreement were fulfilled, the fighting men were free to sell their services to someone else.

Knights had long been known as "lances," from the lance or spear-like weapons they carried. Since these unattached knights were free to sell their services, they were called "free lances."

The name "free lance" now is applied to someone who acts on his own responsibility.

4 Camps Placed On Tax Rolls

STROUDSBURG — Four Monroe County camps yesterday heard the county commissioners and the chief assessor place assessment for tax purposes on parts of their property.

In the five hearings, only one camp was exempted from any assessment.

Robert Stem and Kenneth Erickson, deputy assessors; C. A. Nauman, chief assessor; county commissioners Stanley Rader, Stuart Pipher, and John Price, and the commissioners' solicitor, Russell Mervine, heard the tax appeals.

Rader made a special trip to the hearings from his home in Effort, wearing a neck brace. He is currently in traction for a pinched nerve.

The purpose of the hearings was to let the camps know that parts of their property will be assessed for tax purposes.

Nauman quoted a recent state statute which says that the property of benevolent institutions must be necessary to, and actually used for, the principal business of the institution, and must not be in competition wih commercial enterprises.

Girl Scouts Escape

The only camp to escape assessment was the Scranton-Pocono Girl Scout Council camp in Smithfield Twp. near Shawnee.

Nauman originally said that of the 14.9 acres at the camp, 10 acres were not being used.

Atty. Harold Edwards of Stroudsburg represented the camp, and maintained that the whole area was used for camping facilities.

He was told that this was not the question — only land directly used for the principal purposes of the camp could be exempt. Thus, campsites and trails were assessable.

Russell Mervine then asked how many girls use the camp at one time. He was told that as many as 115 girls used the camp at various times.

The board then decided because so many girls use so little ground, the whole 14.9 acres would not be assessed.

Harlam, Joe and Betty Camp

The Harlam, Joe and Betty Camp of Polk Twp. was first to appear before the board. The camp was represented by Dr. Maurice Jacobs, Maurice Klein, Rabbi Henry Front, and Emmanuel Goldblatt.

Nauman said that the camp contained 152 acres of land, and that 80 acres could be assessed. He said the appraised value would be the lowest possible — $30 per acre. Total land valuation thus came to $2,400.

Nauman added that a partial valuation of $15,000 was placed on a building that is being completely remodeled. Thus a total value of $17,400 was placed on the property — which would be $6,100 assessed value at the 35 per cent rate.

Klein, a Philadelphia attorney and secretary of the camp, said, "We want to bear our fair share if you assess other organizations comparably. We feel the land assessment is fair."

Klein went on to state that the top floor of the building — which was not assessed — was used for a church, and the bottom floor as quarters for visiting Rabbis and retreats by church members in the spring and fall.

Russell Mervine then said, "You realize that parsonages are assessed?"

Klein then agreed that he would be satisfied if the bottom floor were assessed as a parsonage — that is, the assessment is reduced by 50 per cent.

Camp Trexler

Camp Trexler of the Lehigh Council of the Boy Scouts of America was next. It was represented by Charles B. Kauffman, a scout executive.

Nauman said that the camp contained 660 acres, of which 550 acres were unused and would be valued at $30 per acre. The caretaker's house was also included at a value of $10,044.

He said that the total appraised value came to $26,544 and the assessed value came to $9,300.

Kauffman showed copies of the Handbook for Boys, a Boy Scout publication, and said that the out-of-doors are extremely necessary for the conduct of Boy Scout activities.

"A boy needs an out-of-doors setting to make things happen," Kauffman said.

He added that the organization has spent "tremendous amounts of money and labor keeping the grounds in shape," and that as many as 900-1,000 boys use the facilities on some weekends.

Nauman said, "All the Boy Scout councils around here want to use Monroe County — what they take off the tax schedule, the people have to pay."

Atty. Mervine added, "We must treat all camps alike."

The board then decided that the assessment would stand.

There was no argument from representatives of Camp Wyomissing when they heard that they would get a total of $2,500 in assessed valuation.

Nauman told the men that of the camp's 40.6 acres, 10 are not being used, and that these 10 acres would be valued at $75 per acre.

The camp's caretaker's house was valued at $6,406, making a total value on the property of $7,156.

Arthur Cohn of the Grand St. Settlement Camp of Craigs Meadows heard the assessor place a $5,250 total assessment on his camp.

Nauman said that of 172 acres at the camp, 92 are not being used, and would be valued at $30 per acre.

A caretaker's house would be valued at $12,278.

Cohn talked about the need for ground for campers and noted that 150 children per trip made four trips to the camp during the summer.

He was told that the ground for which he was not assessed was adequate for the principal purposes of the camp, and that though the remaining land might be desirable, it was not actually necessary.

18,649 Eligible To Vote In Tuesday's Calm Election

STROUDSBURG — Monroe County's 18,649 registered voters are eligible to go to the polls Tuesday to select candidates in an off-year primary election.

There are 10,916 Democrats now registered and 7,733 Republicans.

Due to the absence of many local contests campaigning has been unusually calm this year.

The polls will open at 8 a.m. and close at 9 p.m. daylight saving time.

Yesterday the county chairmen of both parties vowed the election will be free of party endorsements.

Harold Kresge, GOP chief, said the only candidate the county committee has endorsed is the incumbent Sen. Hugh Scott in his race with W. Henry MacFarland of Philadelphia.

Kresge said the county committee will concentrate on distributing 2,000 write-in stickers bearing the name of Gov. William W. Scranton. He said he expects the governor to poll about 300,000 write-ins in the state.

W. C. G. (Bud) Peterson, retiring Democratic county chairman, said the county committee is sticking to its traditional policy of not endorsing any local candidate.

Two contests of interest center around the Republican nomination for state representative and the Demperatic nod for state committeeman.

"Quiet Campaign"

H. John Davis of Mt. Pocono and John Ferrebee of East Stroudsburg are vying for the GOP General Assembly nomination.

"It looks like I am going to get support, but I really don't know. This has been the quietest campaign anybody has ever heard of," Davis said.

Ferrebee said: "I think I will be very successful. A lot of people are working in my behalf. I have one woman, who is about 71, on the telephone for the last three days seeking support for me. The campaign has been free of personalities . . . we both have stuck to principals and our own abilities."

Mrs. Grace Palmer, East Stroudsburg school teacher, and Atty. J. Joseph McCluskey of Stroudsburg are pitted against each other seeking a spot on the state Democratic committee.

Van D. Yetter Jr., the incumbent Democratic state representative, is running unopposed for his sixth term.

Other local contests include: Parke W. Unangst of Shawnee and Mary E. Fontanella of Cresco, GOP state committee and Harry Rider of Cresco, one of five candidates seeking four delegate positions at the Democratic national convention.

Dr. Charlotte Jordan of Stroudsburg is running unopposed as an alternate delegate to the Democratic convention.

Democrats and Republicans will also select a committeeman and committeewoman from each of the county's 34 election districts.

James Cadue, Tobyhanna, is running unopposed for Democratic county chairman.

4-District School Plan Favored

STROUDSBURG — The legislative committee of the Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce voted unanimously for a four-district school reorganization plan in Monroe County yesterday.

Their action came as the county school board met to decide the issue last night. (See later story, Page 1.)

The committee discussed action and progress on planning and zoning in Monroe County.

Montgomery F. Crowe, a member of the Monroe County Planning Commission, said the commission plans to hold meetings to inform township supervisors of county plans and to encourage planning in the townships—"where the real work has got to be done."

Subdivision regulations under study by the county planning commission, real estate development with inadequate buildings and lot sizes were discussed.

The work of a proposed professional county planner was outlined.

Crowe invited the public to the open meetings of the county planning commission on the first and third Tuesdays of the month at 8 p.m. in courtroom two of the county courthouse in Stroudsburg.

The selection of a fitting memorial will forever stand as a tribute to the departed loved one.

Commissioner s Reject Bid; Approve $3,000 To Library

STROUDSBURG — The Monroe County Commissioners yesterday decided to reject a bid for the installation and moving of Civil Defense antennas on the courthouse roof.

The bid was from D. Katz and Sons, and was the only one received.

Marvin Abel, head of the local CD office, agreed that the best course would be to readvertise the job.

The commissioners have also decided to readvertise bids for furniture for the probation office in the courthouse. Previous bids were incomplete.

In other business, the board agreed to pay the Monroe County Library $3,000 of its $11,000 appropriation for 1964-65, within two or three weeks.

At the instigation of the commissioners, the Stroud Twp. supervisors have secured an agreement from J. H. Beers, Inc. of Richmond, Pa., to clean out Little Pocono Creek along Sweet Fern Rd. near Stroudsburg.

The creek had been causing some surface water to back up, and the supervisors found that Beers' construction had partially clogged the creek.

The board noted that the county is not required to pay social security payments for local tax collectors. The payments are deducted from other sources, commissioner Stuart Pipher noted.

Commissioner John Price noted that tax collectors have an occupational assessment of $300 — and the board decided to determine whether this is a fair assessment for the job.

The board agreed to accept a service contract from the Burroughs Corp. for the coming year at a cost of $23. This includes two service calls per year for Burroughs business machines.

Monroe Cancer Fund Drive At $3,517

The Monroe County Cancer Society has set a goal of $8,600.

Officials hope to near its quota in the next seven days.

Contemporary, Rustic, Both Modern

When the hounds of spring are on winter's traces, as the poet put it, inevitably the annual dream returns of having your own place out in the country; a hideaway for vacations and weekend excursions.

The only way the dream can be practical is if the hideaway is more than just a fair weather retreat.

Today's House of the Week selections are just that. You may take your choice of two delightful small homes, designed not merely as vacation houses but as year-round dwellings—for retirement perhaps or for the here and now if you like the simple life.

One, designed by architect Samuel Paul, is a contemporary single - level home under a shed type roof, which offers the utmost in flexibility. The other is a rustic A-frame chalet with a bonus basement featuring a play-room with its own fireplace, designed by architect Lester Cohen.

Paul's basic house consists of a single volume, enclosing the entire, large multi-purpose room and a utility core which consists of a full bath, storage and utility room, and a full open kitchen. It rests on a raised platform which extends out through the front wall forming a large outdoor deck sheltered by a deep roof overhang.

The heart of the house is a continuous masonry wing wall which becomes the structural basis for the original construction as well as future additions.

These additions will be inexpensive (even more so than the rest of the house) because all the plumbing and other costly equipment are part of the original construction.

A free standing fireplace, open on all sides, is a strong focal point for the interior. The interior plan is completely flexible and convertible to your own needs.

The basic house is only 704 square feet. The main deck is 192 square feet and the service deck 112 square feet. Over-all dimensions are 32 feet by 22 feet. One key to its economy is that it can be built on any terrian because of the platform-on-pier construction.

RUSTIC H-26

Cohen's house, too, was designed for economical construction with a maximum of comfort.

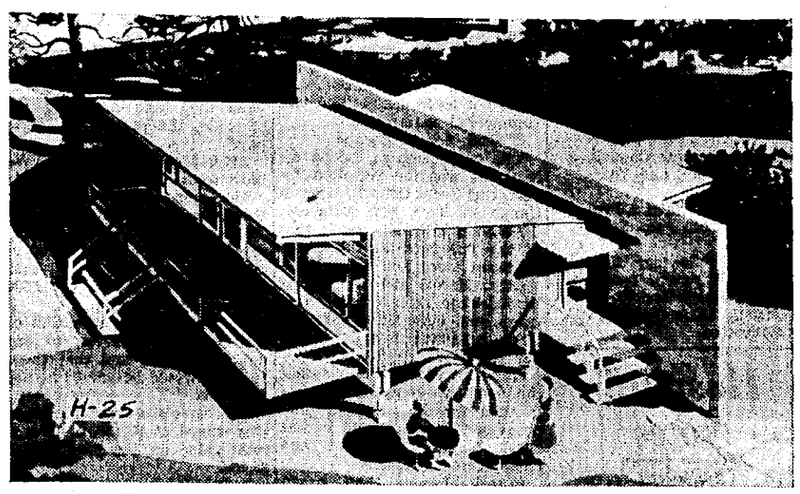
The deck on three sides makes possible an indoor-outdoor sweep of 37 feet in warm weather; and on cold evenings the great gireplace transforms the house into a snug retreat.

The stairs to the balcony bedroom wrap around the masonry chimney and fireplace. From rail to rear, the upper level is more than 21 feet and contains a private bathroom and almost 16 feet of closets.

Besides the playroom with its own fireplace and window wall that opens to a sheltered terrace, the basement contains extra space in the back which, depending on the terrain, could be large enough for more storage. The other section of the basement was designed for a boat or car, and note the two showers economically placed on the same plumbing stack as the overhead bathrooms.

Not counting the deck the dimensions are 25 feet by 37 feet and the basic area is 925 square feet. The partial second floor contains 355 square feet.

RUSTIC H-26: A soaring A-frame plan permits a balcony with sleeping area in this three bedroom home. The deck wraps around three sides and shelters a lower terrace outside a spacious playroom. There are fireplaces on both the main and lower levels.



CONTEMPORARY H-25: This extremely economical and flexible house can contain any number of bedrooms up to five; add them on as you need them. The basic house rests on a raised flatform, adaptable to any terrain, containing a large multi-purpose room, bath, full kitchen and utility room.

Glamorize Your Home

According to Webster, the word "vanitory" doesn't exist. But don't make that statement to the average homeowner or you'll find yourself in one whale of an argument.

In recent years, vanitories have come to be not only distinctive, but also essential home features, reflecting the increased emphasis on glamor and usefulness in the bathroom of modern Americana.

Formica Corporation, which created the term "vanitory" back in 1948 when they were first introduced, lists the following reasons for the popularity laminate vanitories in recent years:

1. They come in an endless variety of designs and colors to match any bathroom decor.
2. Space utilization — because of modern postforming techniques, odd-shaped areas (such as a corner) can be fitted with a vanitory.
3. Economy — both countertop and storage area are provided by the vanitory, making it less expensive for the value derived.
4. Unsightly plumbing fixtures are hidden by the vanitory "skirt", though a well-designed vanitory makes these same fixtures easily accessible for repairs.

Renovations Can Provide Extra Room

Are you planning a complete air conditioning treatment for your home?

Where there is an obsolete gravity furnace, or a worn-out forced warm air heating plant, replacement with one of the many top-flight year 'round heating and cooling units, is the most economical in the long run.

If you plan to replace a forced air furnace, you'll be able to use existing ductwork. Scrapping your old furnace and streamlining basement ducts may provide you with an "extra" room for any purpose you may choose.

Homes having "wet heat", floor furnace or space heaters can enjoy warm weather cooling with specific cooling-dehumidifying units that are installed with a minimum of duct-work. These usually are connected to an outside refrigerating unit.

Every home ought to have one room that's a "standout," says the Masonite Home Service Bureau.

Reasons given by John Concord, bureau director, are: Comfort, beauty, convenience, general utility, conversation piece and selling feature.

One way to accomplish these objectives is to do something extraordinary, like using exterior siding in a recreation area or a teen-age boy's bedroom.

These are styles and "style," too, in sidings just as in interior paneling, Concord points out.

One wall could be a horizontal, lap siding such as Masonite Colorlok, prefinished hardboard with a durable Videne finish that stands abuse for years without redecorating, he suggests.

In 5 Categories In Better Community Contest

Exchange Planning Group Progressing

EAST STROUDSBURG — Carl Secor, chairman of the City Planning Committee of the East Stroudsburg Exchange Club, told a meeting of the committee, "We are doing very nicely and have come a long way since we began in March 1964."

The committee has entered East Stroudsburg in the Pennsylvania Better Community Contest, sponsored by the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce. They are entered in five categories:

Industrial Park and Community Development. Beautification of Retail Area; Industrial Survey; Water Works and Distribution, and Culture Improvement.

At the meeting Wednesday night in the East Stroudsburg High School members of committees gave reports.

King Beers of the industrial park committee said plans for a public hearing on the Courtland Street Project have been completed. The hearing will be held in the East Stroudsburg High School Monday, May 4, at 7:30 p.m.

James Hanscome of the beautification committee said he had several cartoons to remind people to put waste paper in containers provided on Crystal Street.

He reported, "The entire committee has not seen them yet so as of tonight they are not approved. However, I believe the committee will approve then in the near future."

In other business, the committee discussed a coal pile in front of the boiler house at East Stroudsburg College. the possibility of stocking Gregory's Pond to give the children a place to fish, and some dead bushes in the triangle at the corner of Brown and Washington Streets.

Alton Jones said that Dr. LeRoy J. Koehler, president of East Stroudsburg State College, has been contacted about the coal pile and that there is a very good possibility of the college building a fence in front of the building to hide the coal pile.

Carl Secor, chairman of the planning committee, told the meeting that the property at the triangle is owned by the state and that contact has been established with the Highway Department and they will remove the dead plants.

Jones suggested the committee contact someone from the State Fish Comission to obtain more information about stocking Gregory's Pond. Secor said he would write a letter to the Fish Commission requesting a representative to attend one of the meetings.

Thomas Kistler, mayor of East Stroudsburg, told the committee that East Stroudsburg Borough Council completed the financing of a bond issue, last night, for the proposed water filtration plant in Smithfield Twp.

Secor, speaking for the culture committee, told the meeting that arrangements for night classes are being completed. The classes will be held in East Stroudsburg High School and will offer a three - year course in technical fields.

Organizations cooperating with the Exchange Club's committee are East Stroudsburg Borough Council, East Stroudsburg Businessmen's Assn., Pocono Art Center, CLU Social Club of East Stroudsburg, East Stroudsburg Board of Education, Industrial Commission of East Stroudsburg.

Also, Planning Commission of East Stroudsburg, Redevelopment Authority of Monroe County, Citizens Advisory Committee of East Stroudsburg, George N. Kemp Post 346, American Legion of East Stroudsburg, League of Women Voters of the Stroudsburgs, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, East Stroudsburg Board of Recreation.

Also, the Council for Area Beautification, N.A.A.C.P., Garden Club of Monroe County, East Stroudsburg Shade Tree Commission, and the East Stroudsburg PTA.

Scouts Plan 45-Mile Canoe Trip

STROUDSBURG — Explorer Scouts of the Pocono District are planning a 45-mile canoe trip this weekend from Calicoon, N.Y. to Port Jervis, according to district scout executive William T. Vincent.

Vincent said that 36 Explorer scouts and 12 adults will take part in the two and a half day white water canoe trip.

The scouts and adults will leave Friday and camp at Calicoon overnight. Early Saturday morning they will begin the trip and return to Monroe County Sunday.

Vincent and Jack C. Raymond, post 87 advisor, and advisor to the planning committee of the trip, will be in charge of the outing.

"The trip was scheduled and planned by the district Explorer cabinet," Vincent said. The officers of this cabinet are Austin Keiser of Cherry Valley, chairman; Kenneth Predmore of East Stroudsburg, vice chairman; Clinton Frantz of East Stroudsburg, secretary.

Four Explorer posts are participating, according to Vincent. The posts and advisors are Post 81 of the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church, Howard Hovey, advisor; Post 86 of the Stroudsburg Methodist Church, J. Nelson Westbrook, advisor; Post 87 of the First Presbyterian Church of Stroudsburg, Jack Raymond, advisor, and Post 97 of the Grace Lutheran Church of East Stroudsburg, Thomas Long, advisor.

Two More Shortway Links Set

WILLIAMSPORT — Two groundbreaking ceremonies on Keystone Shortway construction are scheduled in Venango County May 14.

The first groundbreaking will be at the shortway interchange with Rt. 38, just west of Emlenton. The second will be at the shortway intersection with Rt. 8, near Barkleyville.

At least 200 persons are expected to attend a dinner and program at Emleton following the ground - breaking ceremonies.

The Keystone Shortway Assn. has released a statement from Gov. William Scranton and secretary of highways. Henry D. Harral, stating that the entire shortway will either be under construction or completed by 1966.

Actual construction costs on the highway since May 30, 1958 have totalled $137,779,861, according to shortway sources. Under an accelerated program, some 90 miles have been placed in construction since Jan. 1, 1963, totalling $60,900,000.

43 Per Cent Open

The shortway assn. has also noted that 43 per cent of interstate route 80—including the shortway — from the George Washington Bridge to the Golden Gate Bridge, is now open.

This means that of the proposed 2,919.3 miles from coast to coast, the super - highway covers 1,248.8 of it, and will eventually cover all of it.

A chart released by the Shortway Assn., shows that 1,248.8 is open to traffic, 399.5 miles is under construction, 947.9 is being designed and the rights-of-way are being acquired, and 269.1 miles are in preliminary status.

The chart also shows that in Pennsylvania, 31.8 miles are open to traffic, 69.9 miles are under construction, 185.1 miles are being designed, and 22.7 are in preliminary status.

All the states from Ohio through Wyoming, and then California, have over 100 miles of their sections of the route completed.

Delaware Basin Unit Plans Fisheries Probe Project

TRENTON, N.J. — A fisheries research project whose success will hinge partly upon cooperation received from fishermen was announced yesterday by the Delaware River Basin Commission.

A phase of the study involves the capture and release of 1,000 tagged catfish in the Delaware River at selected locations from Trenton to Delaware Bay to help determine the effects that polluted river waters have on the composition, distribution, abundance and movement of the fishery resources of the area.

Fishermen who land the marked fish will be asked to forward the tags to the Commission at Trenton along with the vital information on when and where the catches were made.

For their cooperation, fishermen will receive a one-dollar cash reward for each tag returned. The reward money will be contributed by the Water Resources Association of the Delaware River Basin, a citizen - support organization that works closely with the commission and other river planning and development agencies.

One of the objectives of the study is to trace the movements of the fish and to determine their reaction to changes in water quality conditions which worsens as the summer progresses.

Last summer one of the worst drought periods on record in the Delaware Basin, several serious fish kills were recorded, some stemming from depressed oxygen levels that sometimes dropped to zero. Others may have resulted from toxic conditions in the river.

The fish research project is a cooperative venture sponsored by the Commission and also involving the Delawre Water Pollution commission and fish and game agencies of the States of Delaware, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, as well as Philadelphia Water Department and the U. S. Public Health Service.

Joseph A. Mihursky, a fishery ecologist who won his doctorate at Lehigh University for work on Delaware River fishery resources, has been engaged on a consulting basis by the Commission to direct the field work and data processing. Mihursky and Jess W. Malcolm, the Commission's fishery biologist and recreation planner, will collaborate on writing the findings.

First Phase

The first phase of field work on the study begins Saturday and will continue for nine days. Fish will be netted at a different sampling location each day, tagged on the lower jaw and released. The commission emphasized that fishermen returning the tags will have to supply information on where and when the catches were made if this phase of the study is to be meaningful.

Project personnel also will experiment with the use of electrofishing equipment to catch fish by momentarily stunning them.

Bangor Area Farmer Sued For $4,000

BANGOR — Harry Blythe Sr. of Chesapeake City, Md., has filed suit against Morris Cohon, Turkey Ridge Farm, Bangor RD 1, for breach of an agreement made March 14, 1961.

Cohon, a Bangor farmer allegedly refused to honor an agreement to accept a calf sired by his bull. He is being sued in Northampton County Court for the $4,000 purchase price.

It is asserted Blythe shipped his registered Walhalla cow to Northampton County for service by Cohon's Poncho bull with the understanding that Cohon would buy the offspring for $4,000.

Blythe says the male calf named Poncho's Pride, was ready for delivery to Cohon April 9, 1963, but that he has refused to accept delivery.

Attorney James F. Pritchard filed the action.

U. S. Moves For Dismissal Of Suit Against Depot

SCRANTON — Assistant U.S. Attorney Julius Altman moved in Federal Court yesterday for dismissal of a $125,000 lwsuit against the Tobyhanna Army Depot, named co-defendant with the Bell Telephone Co. of Pennsylvania.

Planitiffs in the action are Howell T. and Vera Whiting, now of Panama City, Fla. Mrs. Whiting contends she was injured in February, 1962, when she tripped over a telephone wire while employed at the depot.

Attorney Altman moved that the suit be dismissed because the depot "is an unincorporated, nonsuable agency of the United States and has not consented to be used in the instant case."

Court set 11 a.m. Tuesday for a hearing on the motion.

Poconos Ready For New Golf Season

STROUDSBURG — Bigger, better and even more beautiful golf attractions are offered by the Poconos this year.

From the duffer to the scratch player the Poconos offer more than 30 courses, including eight layouts in true championship form which are capable of holding any professional event. Other area courses range in length from a 2,200, nine-hole layout to the 7,200-yard (back tees) course.

Owners of the various courses throughout the picturesque Poconos report the greens already nearly in top shape, despite the heavy early spring rains.

And the golfers apparently are wasting no time dusting off their bags and getting back once again "into the swing of things."

Patten Returns

Pro Paul Patten returns to his fourth year at Glen Brook Country Club which this year will also be the scene of the Golf Tournament May 11.

The barroom last year was renovated at Glen Brook and the first series of six motel-type housing units were completed for use by visiting golfers.

Glen Brook's championship course measures 6,508 yards and is the only par 73 course in the area. Its 16th hole, 150-yard par three, is one of the toughest in these parts. John Kupice is the teaching pro.

Shawnee Country Club, of course, is one of the top golf spots in the East. Owned by internationally - famous Fred Waring, it is located along the banks of the Delaware and has been in existence since 1911. Under Waring's guiding hand, the recent years have been a consistent program of development and is recognized today as the "Golf Capitol of the East."

New Layout

A new "White nine" was installed last year, joining the Red and Blue layouts for a 27-hole course.

White birches lie behind all the greens on the White nine; red crabapple trees designate 150-yard distances from all greens on the Red, and Blue Spruce trees designate the same distances along the Blue nine.

Par is 72 on any combination of 18 holes.

Bill Boorman of Pine Crest Country Club, Longview, Tex., succeeds Jack White as pro at Shawnee, and Bill Livingston is the new greenskeeper. Paul C. Grant remains as inn keeper.

Shawnee is the home of the 1938 PGA championship and the 1961 Arnold Palmer - Jackie Gleason match in Sunday Sports Spectacular. Gleason is a frequent visitor to Shawnee along with other celebrities such as Hoagy Carmichael who appeared in a match last year.

Cuttle And Wall

The 18-hole championship golf course at Pocono Manor Inn remains under the supervision of Jack Cuttle, head golf pro, and Art Wall, Jr., tournament pro who played brilliantly this year in the Caribbean tour. He also competed in this year's Masters tournament once again.

John M. Crandall is general manager of the Inn.

Pocono Manor is some 1,800 feet high in the Poconos and Wall is the 1959 PGA "Golfer of the Year." He also holds the Manor course record of 63. Cuttle has been stationed at the Manor for the past 39 years.

The Manor is located 15 miles north of Stroudsburg.

Tough Tamiment

Tamiment's golf course, designed by Robert Trent Jones, earns the title of the toughest challenge in the area. Located 12 miles from Stroudsburg, it cost more than $750,000 to build. From three Tamiment-in-the-Poconos holes it is possible to see 20 miles in any direction.

Tamiment also is the home of Danny Kaye Pro-Am Tournament.

The 17th hole on the course, two years in the making, was opened two seasons ago. Cost was estimated at $30,000 for construction.

Veteran Ray Lambert heads the golf fortunes at Mountain Manor Inn along Rt. 209 at Marshalls Creek and is one of the most-played courses in the area. Lambert is a senior PGA member. The course features a layout of 27 holes with nine of them a par-three setup.

Pocono Birthplace

The Inn at Buck Hill also is the birthplace of Pocono golf. The first round was played there in 1909 about seven years after its construction had begun. Ted Beadle is entering his 19th year on the Hill. Harry Drennan, golf manager, starts his 43rd season.

Harold Calloway is the head of Skytop which was founded in 1928. It rarely allows outside play, however, reserving its course for some 3,000 members and resort guests. At Vacation Valley, free golf lessons are given to guests who stay a week and pay a week's $7 greens fees. The Vacation Valley course is 3,000 yards long and includes a 580-yard seventh hole.

Mt. Pocono Golf Course in Mt. Pocono is a regulation nine-hole layout which is located next to High Point Inn. Caddy carts and clubs may be rented and golf equipment also may be purchased in the pro shop.

Nine-Hole Course

Blue Mountain Golf Course, located a half-mile east of Saylor's Lake, is owned and operated by Bert and Grant Knowles. It has a challenging nine-hole regulation course with natural obstacles. A complete golf shop is maintained on the premises.

Indian Mountain Golf Course, a public course, located in Kresgeville, is often referred to as "the public's country club." It offers 3,200 yards of scenic beauty. The greens on this course in the western Poconos have been improved and is one to challenge any golfer.

At Tannersville is The Randall's Woodmont Lodge and Golf Course. The nine-hole layout is a fairly rugged challenging course.

Fernwood has a nine-hole course and is located on Rt. 209 east of East Stroudsburg.

Vance Megargel, Jr., who also owns Indian Mountain Golf Course, is head of Wiscasset, too, which is located a mile-and-a-half south of Mt. Pocono on Rt. 611 and has proven popular with visitors and home golfers alike.

The Megargel circuit of courses now stands at nine nine-hole layouts located in Cresco, Mt. Pocono, Bartonsville, Pocono Lake, Blakeslee, Wind Gap, Shohola, Northumberland and Sunbury.

Water Gap Country Club (Wolf Hollow) is a private club, although arrangements may be made to play the course. It is the home of the 1927 and '28 Eastern Opens. Sam Kinder is the pro.

Other public courses are Mount Pocono Golf and Bush's Golf Course.

Isometrics Aid To Gary Player

By EDWARD S. KITCH

CHICAGO (AP — Gary Player, golfdom's dapper little pro, believes he has found what's wrong with his putting.

"I have made some changes," he said while in Chicago for a sports goods show. "I can't say what it is yet because I'm not sure it'll work every time. But I think it's going to improve my game, and I expect to do well with it in the United States this year."

He hinted that it may be that he is flexing his wrists when stroking the ball on putts. Player also is using the simple isometric system of exercising muscles. It stretches and develops muscles with a minimum of effort.

Longer Drives

Player, 28, a trim 5-foot-7 and 150 pounds has adopted the system to strengthen forearm, back and leg muscles. He wants to drive a longer ball.

"I'm a little fella," he says "and I have to get all the distance I can."

Player once did 50 or so finger-tip pushups daily, but he discovered this exercise develops the chest. A barrel chest definitely is a hinderance to a golfer's swing.

Flat Chest

"If you want to be a good golfer that's one of the things you don't want to do," he says. "It's because you want to wind up for power and a big chest prevents this. Arnold Palmer is big and strong and hits the ball well with his strong arms, but he has a flat chest."

Player left his native South Africa to play in some 130 American tourneys after winning the British Open in 1959. In 1961, his first full year on the tournament tour, he amazed the golfing world by winning the Masters. He finished as the year's top money winner with $64,540. He won the P.G.A in 1962, when his winnings were $45,838. Last year he won $55,455.

Gary Player

Jet Age Helps

The jet age has enabled Player to enjoy visits more often with his wife, Vivienne, and four children who live in Johannesburg, South Africa.

"When I first started the American tour, it took 44 hours for me to get home," he says. "Now, by jet, I can do it in 20 hours."

Player plans to retire after 40 and become a gentleman farmer, with a few prize cattle grazing in green pastures.

"Golf isn't all it's cracked up to be," he says. "Sleeping in different hotels and motels, packing and moving. It's a lot of work, but I love it."

Just Between Us——

by Bobby Westbrook

Novi Sad, Yugoslavia—Having lunch on one of the terraces of the old Turkish Petrovaradin Fortress dating back to the 17th century, we can look down from the heights across the Danube to the red-tiled roofs, steeples and domes of the town of Novi Sad. During the 18th and 19th century, it was the center of Serbian cultural life and was called the Athens of Serbia, and still has a renowned opera house. It was also the high-water mark of the Turkish invasion of Serbia which explains the fortress, although the Turks never managed to cross the Danube below.

We came on a cultural commission: To buy a painting from Emmerich Fejes, who is a real not pseudo primitive. He started painting after work, with match sticks for brushes, and had gained recognition even before Life used his picture. (Incidentally if any of you have a copy, please save it for me).

He very proudly showed it to us. It was taken outside of the two-room cottage where we also met his wife. We had a wonderful conversation, if you can call nods, smiles and sort of coos conversation. Shirley could interpret for us but for admiring paintings and press clippings you don't really need words. He also showed us the photographs of cities of the world from which he paints his pictures. There is one picture of the U. S. Capitol in Washington which he painted and had sent to the late President Kennedy. Probably in pink, green and purple since he thinks buildings, even white marble ones, look better in color. They are gay and alive and we could hardly decide between three.

Having made our choice, we visited the U. S. Library in the center of Novi Sad, where a windowful of pictures of General MacArthur's life was drawing a constant stream of spectators. The library itself is a very busy place.

Our luncheon at the renowned Hunters Restaurant on the Turkish fort certainly illustrated why it is renowned. We all had beef soup, Ruth had razajici, which is pieces of spiced pork on a spit served with raw onions. Shirley and I had kapama which is braised lamb with spinach and onion and a sauce red and hot with paprika. French fried potatoes, herbed rice came with it and we finished with Turkish coffee which is odd but good, if you remember not to stir up the muddy dregs in the bottom of the cup.

Warm and content with the sunlight and the food, we bucketed the 60 miles back to Belgrade, well pleased with ourselves, our paintings, and the whole trip. Every kilometer was a delight. The tree-bordered road ran straight as string through the flat plain we had seen from the plane—the breadbasket of Yugoslavia.

There were a few tractors working in the fields of wheat we assumed were collective farms, but mostly the farmers, both men and women, were working with horses or hoes or hand weeding. Against the vast sweep of fields stretching to the horizon, they looked like toy figures in a toy world. Paralleling our road was a toy train puffing its way in the same direction and at about the same speed.

We would have won the race with the train if it hadn't been for the carts on the highway, heralded by the screeching of brakes and careening of wheels on the trucks and cars ahead of us. At first there was only an occasional cart, drawn by two horses — wooden carts with high sides, suspended from sort of flying buttresses. But the cart traffic got heavier and heavier until we were passing a continuous line, all headed for a field filled with horses and colts which might have been a horse market, at one of the villages.

These villages of farmhouses are entrancing. The fields themselves are unbroken by houses at all. Whether for protection from the hordes of invaders who have always been trying to conquer the Serbs, or merely because they like each other's company, the farmers all live in towns, driving to and from the fields in those carts.

But such towns. Strung along the road, the one-story buildings of painted plaster present a non-commital side to the road without even a door opening from the street. The door is really a gate which opens in the high wall which stretches from one house to its neighbor, a gate big enough to drive the carts through. Each house faces the back of its neighbor, and since the back of the houses have no windows, each family has privacy in the midst of company.

Where the gates were open you could see the little pillared porches and the paintings with which they had decorated the front of their houses. You could see the farmyard itself with sheds and coops and hay mows and wells.

From the casement windows, women leaned to talk to passersby and in the wide grass plot between road and sidewalk were ducks and geese with their fluffy yellow ducklings and goslings and children in dresses and leotards. But the most different things of all were the pigs with long, tight curly hair. I wouldn't be surprised to see a pig with wings after this incredible day.

Barrett Demo Ladies Meet Tonight

Mountainhome — A social meeting of the Barrett Democrtic Women's Club will be held at the Barrett YMCA tonight at 8 o'clock.

It is to be a "candidate night" and all candidates have been invited.

Club members and friends are invited to attend.

Leonard Randolph, assistant to Congressman Fred B. Rooney, will be the speaker.

Refreshments will be served. Plans also are being formulated for a pancake supper at Besecker's diner. The date will be announced later.

Mah-Jong Lesson Plus Cards At Camelback

Camelback — Mah-jong, bridge or any other form of cards will be the order of the evening on Wednesday at 8 p.m. at Camelback Ski Lodge.

Under the auspices of the Stroudsburg Chapter of Hadassah, a card party will be held with refreshments for all guests.

One of the features of the evening will be a free mah-jong lesson. Mah-jong, experts think, was a game first played as early as the time of Confucius. The tiles originally bore symbols used in the Chinese army. They were called spears, targets and vans. When the game was taken over by civilians, the spears became bamoos, the targets become circles, and the vans, became characters. The "winds, dragons, and flowers" were added later.

Tickets for the card party will be sold at the door. For further information, call Mrs. Sam Newman at 421-5012 or Mrs. Phillip Fleiss at 421-1198.

Author of "From Death Unto Life or From Prisoner to Preacher," Rev. Runkle has an intimate knowledge of rackets, gambling, narcotics and federal and state institutions.

He has held services from Canada to Mexico and through 42 states during the past 23 years.

The services are open to the public.

THE WYCKOFF SHOPPER

ALL ABOUT WYCKOFF'S—

Here we go again! As though it were not confusing enough to have a Jean Decker and a June Decker in our Wyckoff Store Family (Jean in Gift Wrap and June in Accounts Payable) we now have an Ann Haller and an Ann Heller. The first may be found in our International Gift Center; the newcomer in Gift Wrap. It's getting harder by the minute to keep things straight around here, and not just because I'm getting a bit older each day! . . . Wasn't that an interesting Travel Bureau ad on the back page of the Daily Record the other morning? Edna Brockman and Virginia Ludgate have reason indeed to be proud of their newly renovated and enlarged offices. They are lovely. I'm told that in addition to a lovely new shade of blue on the walls, a stunning new blue-green carpet, and handsome new draperies, they are also getting a larger air conditioner. Wonder if they'd bequeath their old one to me?????? Undeniably, our Wyckoff Travel Bureau will be a delightfully restful place to sit down, relax, and plan a trip—to the World's Fair or to the other side of the earth. If you are planning a vacation, however limited your means, talk with our girls and listen to their suggestions. They have interesting ideas that you could never possibly dream up by yourself—and much more economical too, than those you might "come up with" . . . Helen Diamond of our Cosmetic department tells me "Line Away" and the similar products designed to erase the tiny wrinkles we women accumulate with the passing years, are selling like mad. Her favorite customers are the little ladies of maybe seventy or so, who come quietly into the department; then—almost as though embarrassed—look around to see that no one is standing near, and make a quick purchase from the counter display. "God bless 'em," says Helen, "I say 'more power to them.' I think it's wonderful they're interested in looking young." If you are wondering whether or not these magic lotions work, Helen tells me they really do —in fact, they are almost unbelievably effective. In a matter of moments, the years wipe away for anywhere from three to five hours. As one co-worker expresses it, "I patted some on, waited a few minutes, looked in the mirror and couldn't believe it. I was eighteen again." . . . Eighteen!—do you know, I can't exactly remember how I felt at that age, but I'd wager I'm more content right now than I was those thirty years ago I might wish to look 18 once more—weight-wise and complexion wise, but I wouldn't, for all the king's ransome, wish to be that age . . . Did you see the impressive new lamp collection in ourelectric department? There are some lovely desk and table lamps of brass with cute square-shaped parchment shades. And there's a glass lamp in a delicate shade of light green that has me rocking. I'd really love to own it. Then, of course, we are showing an entire windowful of jewel-tone amber lamps—glass, in ever so many styles for floor and table . . . NEW and at WYCKOFF'S are the World's Fair fabrics of Waverly's First Lady collection. As Sue Wicks Oiler, of the Bangor Home Economics staff, said the other day, "These are in all my favorite color combinations"—gold tones, and wonderful blues and greens stunning when used with a striped blue, green, and purple rug. The fabrics are priced from about 3.99 to 7.99 a yard, and are on view in our Keystone Room as well as at the World's Fair . . . Incidentally, the Keystone Room display was set up by Edna Bush, of our fabrics department, who has a real gift for that sort of thing. I truly don't know what I'd do in the Keystone Room if Edna, Fran Meredith (now in the hospital—very briefly, we hope) and Marlene Andrews of advertising didn't give me the benefit of their talents now and then. They can do ANYTHING artistic.

Let's talk Fashion

Even if you haven't been playing golf—you've been talking about it so enthusiastically that we're equally enthusiastic about the things we've got that you can wear to hit 'em a mile.

Our newest golf line is our Vin Draddy golf dresses, with hats to match. Of imported fabric — fine cotton check with the feel of silk, the dresses have a convertible collar, a waistline elasticized for ease of fit, with an action back pleat and two pockets, front and back, plus a contrasting web belt.

The colors are light blue, toast, olive, red, pink and navy with white check. And of course the sport hat completes the professional look.

Of course, we've got lots of the perfect skirts and shirts, too, as well as a wonderful assortment of shorts for golf, or cruising, or sunning, or simply looking pretty.

Cy Barrett Says

Job-Seeker Firms

By Cyrus Barrett, Jr.

DEAR CY:

The role of the private employment agency is seldom understood by the "customer." The countless phone calls, the many letters written, the personal contacts used, skilled anticipation of openings, and placement of people where they are happiest and best paid. . . are usually overlooked.

The role of the state employment service is not understood either. Their frequent use of untrained political hacks as job counselors or the fact that they have created a huge governmental bureaucracy that continues to take a large tax bite out of our dollars is not right.

GEORGE WETMORE

DEAR MR. WETMORE:

Scattering garbage over the neighbor's lawn won't make your grass greener. Private employment agencies can justifiably be proud of their industry for what it is. It employs 25,000 men and women who last year interviewed over 15 million job seekers. Jobs were landed for 6 million ranging from teenagers to 70 - plussers last year.

A Boston agency placed an 86-year-old man in a job. This was an increase of 4 years over the previous high of 82, garnered by a Miami firm in 1962. I strongly feel, when a person is on the street, all potential sources of work or vital information should be contacted. This includes state as well as private employment agencies.

CY

DEAR CY:

I don't know why I do it. Twice, the company I work for has dealt me a severe blow. Still, I find myself constantly on the prowl for ideas to submit for betterment of the organization. Believe me, they can use ideas. Truly, I am not a "yes man." My theory is that "yes men" make industry, flow smoothly, but they do little for progress. Am I right?

DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED:

Yes men are the grease of industry. Not the fuel or spark plugs, but the grease! They don't produce progress but enable a company to slide along roads broken by leaders in the firm. Either get another job, wait for a shift toward progressive management, or fall into the grease. Some men and women are compulsive forward thinkers. As such they become incompatible with employers and too hot to handle. Watch step!

DEAR CY:

You should be ashamed of yourself for telling "Mrs. Zim" to go to the doctor's office. House calls may cost a little more, but extra personal attention can do much for one's health and frame of mind. The new crop of doctors is too lazy to make house calls, and started this visit-the-office routine.

FANNY FRANE

DEAR FANNY:

With house calls, you pay more for less. Today's doctor relies heavily on a trained staff and scientific office equipment. Why deny yourself these modern plus factors? Transporting patients is usually simple and free of danger. So. . .we have actually progressed beyond habitual house calling by doctors.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

The complaint alleges a car driven by Brunch hit the rear end of a taxicab, driven by Clarence B. Dickison Jr. at an intersection on Stokes Ave., Stroudsburg.

Since the complaint is seeking less than $2,000 the action will be heard by a three-man board of arbitrators. The suit was filed by Atty. Kennard Lewis of East Stroudsburg.

Treatment For Koufax

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sandy Koufax flew home Thursday and put the most famous left arm in baseball in the hands of an orthopedic surgeon.

The Los Angeles Dodger star started treatments immediately for what was described as a muscle strain.

It was an unhappy turn of events for the 1963 World Series champions, who, on an Eastern road trip, are trying to end a seven-game losing streak.

The doctor who examined Koufax said it would be 48 hours before he could determine the seriousness of the injury.

The Dodgers' statement said that Koufax suffered the injury Wednesday night, when Koufax was removed after a wild first inning against the St. Louis Cardinals at Busch Stadium.

But Koufax told newsmen:

"I've had it for three weeks. I haven't had anything on the ball in any of my three starts. I was just lucky to get by until now."

The injury to their star pitcher filled the Dodgers with as much gloom as their seventh straight loss and their last-place position in the National League.

The handsome, dark-haired player appeared glum as he got off the plane here earlier Thursday, carrying a small valise in his right hand.

He was taken to Dr. Robert K. Kerlan, the team's orthopedic specialist, who gave him injections in the strained area—described as the inner side of the left elbow and the upper half of the forearm. Another injection was made where the tendon attaches to the bone.

He also will be given treatments with ice packs, hot whirlpool baths and ultra sound, Dr. Kerlan said, adding that it would be 48 hours before he could say how long Koufax will be on the sidelines.

Dr. I. C. Middleman, the St. Louis team physician, said Wednesday night that he thought Koufax would miss possibly two pitching turns.

He normally pitches every four days.

Leafs Tie NHL Series

DETROIT (AP) — Bob Baun's goal one minute and 43 seconds into the first overtime period Thursday night gave the Toronto Maple Leafs a 4-3 Stanley Cup final playoff victory over the Detroit Red Wings and knotted the series at three games each.

The deciding game will be played in Toronto Saturday night.

Bob Pulford put the Maple Leafs ahead with the only goal of the first period, scoring while Toronto had a man in the penalty box.

The five other markers came in a fast-skating second period with Paul Henderson, Pit Martin, and Gordie Howe scoring for Detroit and Pulford and Billy Harris for the Maple Leafs.

Detroit twice took the lead in that second period but could not keep its advantage.

Phillies Trim Pirates, 6-5

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—John Herrnstein's two-run double climaxed a four-run ninth inning and gave the Philadelphia Phillies a 6-5 victory over the Pittsburth Pirates Thursday night and retention of a slim hold on first place in the National League.

NFL Revises '64 Schedule

NEW YORK (AP) — National League Football will stretch over five days of the week — Thursday to Monday — in 1964, but not in any one week.

The 98-game schedule released Thursday includes the usual Thanksgiving Day game at Detroit, Thursday, Nov. 26; one Friday night game, five on Saturdays and two on Monday nights. As usual, the bulk of the games will be on Sunday afternoons.

The season opens with the Dallas Cowboys playing the St. Louis Cardinals in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas Saturday, Sept. 12. The championship game is scheduled for Sunday, Dec. 27, in the home city of the Eastern Conference champions.

The Friday innovation stems from the desire of the New York Giants to get in one early-season home game without interfering with the baseball plans of the Yankees. They will play Washington Sept. 25—the Giants first night game since 1938. This allows time to get the field in shape for the Yankees' game the next Tuesday.

The Monday night games—also something new in the NFL—are Green Bay at Detroit Sept. 28 and Baltimore at St. Louis Oct. 12.

The last three weeks of the season provide a pleasant windfall for television viewers. Since the Green Bay Packers decided not to be regular Thanksgiving Day visitors to Detroit, the Chicago Bears moved into that spot against the Lions. The Packers play the Bears at Chicago Saturday afternoon, Dec. 5, and Cleveland is at New York Dec. 12.

All three games will be nationally televised and all figure to be important in deciding the conference titles.

Most of the other games will be televised regionally into the area of the visiting team with the home city blacked out.

Hornung Trains For Comeback

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—Paul Hornung, the Green Bay Packers' scoring ace reinstated by the National Football League last month after a year's suspension for gambling, has started training for a comeback.

The 29-year-old Golden Boy, only a few pounds over his normal playing weight of 215, is carrying out a special conditioning schedule set by Coach Vince Lombardi.

Senators Win

ST. PAUL—MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Bill Skowron's two-out single in the eighth inning drove Don Blasingame home with the winning run Thursday in a 5-4 victory for the Washington Senators over the Minesota Twins.

Skowron's hit capped a two-run rally that wiped out a Minnesota lead. Don Zimmer drove the tying run across.

Ron Kline, who pitched the eighth and ninth innings for Washington, got out of a bases loaded one-out jam in the ninth to save the game. Pinch hitter Lennie Green lined into a double play.

Harmony Races Set For Tonight

HARMONY, N. J. — Hoop Schaible and Frank Schneider are co-favorites in tonight's doubleheader program at Harmony Speedway near Phillipsburg.

Schaible already has won a pair of qualification events, winning the 25-lap feature last week while finishing third in another.

Schneider last week spun out on the 18th lap when Schaible then was running third.

A full schedule of limited-sportsman events also will be run, and the speedway hopes to continue its no-accident record.

Johnson Loses No-Hitter On 9th Inning Errors, 1-0

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston's Ken Johnson pitched the first no-hitter of the season Thursday night, but was beaten by his former Cincinnati teammates 1-0 when the Reds scored in the ninth on two errors.

It was the first time in major league history that a pitcher had tossed a no-hitter and lost in a nine-inning game.

The game was played under protest by the Reds, who lodged an official complaint in the bottom of the ninth inning after a play was reversed at first base by the umpires.

Other Instances

The last pitcher to lose a no-hitter was Pittsburgh's Harvey Haddix, who went 12 innings against Milwaukee in 1959 before the Braves won 1-0 in the 13th inning. There have been various other instances of pitchers losing no-hitters in extra innings.

Johnson, a 30-year-old knuckleball specialist drafted from the Reds in the 1961 National League expansion draft, placed himself in jeopardy with one out in the ninth when he fielded a bunt by Pete Rose and threw wildly to first base. Rose went to second base on the play.

Johnson then got Chico Ruiz to hit a grounder to third baseman Bob Aspromonte, who threw out the runner as Rose reached third.

Vada Pinson then sent a grounder to veteran second baseman Nellie Fox, who booted the ball. Rose raced across the plate with the only run of the game. Johnson got Frank Robinson to fly out to left fielder Jim Wynn for the final out.

The Colts thus went to the bottom of the ninth trailing 1-0 with Cincinnati starter Joe Nuxhall working on a five-hitter.

Protest Game

Eddie Kasko, the first Houston batter, struck out. Fox then grounded to shortstop Leo Cardenas and was thrown out.

Pete Runnels, the third batter, rapped a grounder to first baseman Deron Johnson, who threw to Nuxhall covering at first base. Umpire Stan Landes called Runnels out, but was reversed by home plate umpire Augie Donatelli.

Runnels was awarded first base, and after the Reds announced the game was being played under protest, play resumed.

Nuxhall then struck out Johnny Weekly.

Johnson had pitchd a spectacular game until he began his own downfall. He had walked only two men, both on 3-2 pitches — Pinson in the first inning and Bob Skinner in the fifth. Only three balls were hit out of the infield.

Ruiz lofted an easy fly to right field in the first, and Johnny Edwards flied out to center in the fifth. Robinson's fly in the ninth was the third one.

There also had been only one tough fielding play. In the sixth, Nuxhall laid down a bunt. Johnson came off the mound quickly, fielded the ball cleanly and fired to first, the peg just nipping the Cincinnati pitcher.

No Matter What Turnstiles Show

There's Always 100,000 Spectators At The Derby

LOUISVILLE (AP) The time-honored attendance of 100,000 for the Kentucky Derby is as traditional as the mint julep and the playing of "My old Kentucky Home."

The count looks so real that only the track and the tax man know for sure.

Churchill Downs hasn't given out the Derby day atendance for 15 years, or since the death of Col. Matt Winn, who helped make this horse race for 3-year-olds one of America's foremost sports classics.

Guessing Game

The crowd becomes a guessing game that invariably becomes 100,000, though not entirely without some skepticism.

"There have been that many here," said the track's public relations director, Brownie Leach. "On the average, it's not too far off."

Leach was asked how the figure became a tradition.

"Colonel Winn was quite a showman," he replied. "He made the Derby what it is.

"I have always assumed, that in connection with any spectacle, part of what you don't know is some of the lure.

"We can have a heavy rain within 100 miles of Louisville on the morning of Derby day, for example, and it will make a big difference in our infield crowd," he continued.

Rain Cuts Attendance

"Take the man in Seattle. If it comes out that attendance was off 14,000, he says the Derby has lost its attraction.

"What he doesn't realize, is that 14,000 people have decided 'I won't stand in the rain to see the Derby. I'll watch it on television and go next year'."

There was a day when big names in government, diplomacy, sports and entertainment were a feature of the Derby crowd, with the man in the street hopeful he'd get a glimpse of the celebrities.

They'll be here for the 90th running a week from Saturday, maybe not in such great numbers and certainly with less fanfare.

Bird-Cage Tomato Plant Support

By George Abraham

TOMATO GROWING: Recently we mentioned a method for growing tomatoes, using a chicken wire fence filled with compost. The plants were set out on the outside of the fence and trained to climb up the wire.

The roots grew under the compost and obtained all the nutrients and moisture necessary for a season's growth.

Another novel idea for growing tomatoes is to use a bird-cage tomato plant support. You don't need stakes, strings or other contraptions to keep the tomatoes off the ground.

The cage is made with welded wire fabric, the kind used for reinforcement for concrete. It has 6" by 6" by 6" openings, and when not in use, it can be unfastened and flattened for storage. You can make the "cage" as round as you wish.

The plants grow inside of it, and as the season progresses, the tomato branches are hooked through the meshes. No tying is needed.

Last summer several commercial growers used this novel device and they seemed mighty happy with the results. One good feature of the bird cage is that you can still apply a mulch of straw around the base of it, to hold moisture and shade the roots from hot sun.

GREEN THUMB BONUS: From time to time, folks write to ask us for the name of a firm which handles "out-of-the-ordinary" plants or supplies. For example, would you know where to buy old - fashioned moss roses, or hard - to - find geraniums?

We have all this helpful material in a brand new bulletin, free for the asking. Send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope and ask for my bulletin, A Handy Source Guide For Unusual Plants, Seeds And Supplies.

You should have this for your Green Thumb library.

SPRAYING ROSES: The main reason for spraying or dusting roses is not so much to destroy disease or insect pests, but to prevent them from attacking. That's why it's important to spray or dust early and regularly.

Cover every part of the plant — undersides of leaves, top surface, the stems and joints.

What's the best material to use? There are some good all-purpose rose dusts or sprays all ready to use, or you can make your own if you have a lot of roses.

Here's one I use: Ferbam or Captan, 3 level tablespoons; wettable sulfur, 2 tbsp; DDT, 50 per cent powder, 3 tbsp., all added to one gallon of water, to which has been added a teaspoon or detergent (any kind). Next week I'll pass along another home-made all - purpose rose spray which will give you clean roses and save you money.

Wood Ashes: How good are wood ashes for the home vegetable and flower garden? Smart gardeners use them because ashes contain mineral elements plants need. Woods differ in value as a plant food.

For example, if you burn a ton of beech, you get about 3 lbs. of potash, but if you burn a ton of elm, you get about 9 lbs. Twigs are richer than mature wood.

Also, wood ashes will sweeten a sour soil. Don't use wood ashes in soils used for potatoes as it may cause the tubers to develop scabs.

A good many gardeners tell us they have forced a stubborn peony or iris bed to bloom, merely by scattering wood ashes in the bed. Use 5 lbs. of wood ashes per 100 sq. ft.

Never use wood ashes for "acid-loving" plants such as azaleas, rhododendrons or laurel.

Wood ashes scattered around tomato, pepper plants and others will discourage cutworms. Soot, too, is paluable, containing from 1 to 11 per cent nitrogen. It will repel wireworms, maggots, cutworms and snails.

Do not use soot and lime together since this combination will lose the nitrogen. How about coal ashes? They help break soil and aid in plant growth.

Use these with discretion as you wouldn't want these to be thicker than the soil itself.

CUCUMBERS: For years the leading slicing home garden cucumber has been the Marketer because it grows on most soils and under many conditions. Vines are large, not tolerant to mosaic but hold up well over a long period. Because the Marketer is not disease - resistant, we've been leaning more to hybrids such as Sensation and Challenger.

Challenger Hybrid sets fruit right from the start and is one of the earliest slicing cucumbers. It's earliness and vigor makes it one of the best for the home garden.

Saticoy Hybrid is fairly mosaic resistant and will tolerate down mildew. All cucumbers should be picked daily and dusted at regular intervals if you want fruit over a long period.

The new "all-girl" cucumber, Spartan Dawn produces female flowers only, and it bears heavily before the vines make much growth.

In order for fruit to set, seedsmen include 10 per cent of the male parent of another variety for pollination.

This "all-girl" character is known as gynoecious (gin-ee-shus) and you may be hearing more about it later.

HYDRANGEA: If the blooms of your potted hydrangea are spent, set the pot and all outdoors, buried to the rim. Keep it watered and next fall bring it indoors and place it in a cool cellar for two months. After that, the plant can be put in a bright window and forced to bloom.

Azaleas require the same care. The Easter lily should be planted outdoors and left in a permanent spot in the garden where it will bloom in the fall.

5 Monroe Knights Get 4th Degrees

EASTON—Five Monroe County men were among a class of 192 Knights of Columbus members who received the society's Fourth Degree award recently in Easton.

Local men honored were Elmer Chura, Charles Edmunson, James J. Flanagan, Ray Goltstein and Albert R. McCormack. The class was named in honor of Angelo J. Catucci of Washington, D.C., a vice supreme master of the fourth degree.

Taking part in the ceremonies in Easton were Fred J. Swensson Jr., George M. Rung, Harrison Place, James T. Ogden, J. Paul Hart, Frank Owens, Anthony Archer, Andrew Gondell, Willim Dilginis, John Garwood and Charles Dellaria, all members of the Father John T. Butler Council in Stroudsburg.

The local Fourth Degree Assembly will meet Monday at 6:30 p.m. in the Knights of Columbus Home in Stroudsburg. Truman J. Burnett is in charge of dinner arrangements for the meeting.

Two Placed On Probation

STROUDSBURG — Two Monroe County men were placed on parole yesterday with the provision that they both behave themselves, refrain from alcoholic drink and attend church regularly.

Paul W. Strausser and Edward Green, who had been serving six to 23 and one-half month sentences for burglary gained their freedom before Judge P. Little of Susquehanna County, specially presiding.

Judge Little ordered the duo to make restitution for stolen items and pay court costs. He gave Strausser three months to pay and Green 30 days. Both men had served 143 days on their sentences.

Question Box

QUESTION OF THE WEEK—D. R. of Saylorsburg: "I raised three Chestnut trees from large chestnuts purchased in a store at Christmas time. The seedlings are now 6 inches high and I would like to know if they'll produce good nuts or will they die out?"

Chestnuts found in stores around Christmas time are the European chestnut, Castanea sativa. They are grown in Europe.

Seedlings grown from these seeds might be successfully kept alive for a few years, but they are not blight resistant and they would probably eventually be killed by the chestnut blight disease.

Furthermore, they are not hardy in cold regions and probably would be winterkilled after a few years.

My suggestion: If you're going to do the necessary work to grow chestnuts, it'd be more efficient to grow the Chinese Chestnut, since it is hardy and blight resistant.

Plant two trees; one alone cannot pollinate itself and will produce "false" nuts.

FREE: I have a list of Nut Nurseries which specialize in nut tree propagation. If you'd like a copy of this list, send me a self-addressed stamped envelope for yours.

E. V. of Stockertown — "Our plants have a lot of mealy bugs on them. The spray we use won't touch them. What can be done?"

Florists find that mealybugs are reappearing and find them increasingly tough to kill. If your plants are badly infested, I'd burn them. If only a few bugs are on, dip a piece of cotton in rubbing alcohol and swab each cottony mass you see. One reader feeds these to her goldfish.

You'll be interested to know that mealy bugs have been successfully controlled for years in citrus orchards by Lady Bird beetles ("Lady bugs").

These beneficial insects feed almost exclusively on aphids, mealy bugs and related pests. Don't kill any you see around your home.

R. N. of Cresco — "I've always wanted a row of parsley, but never have any luck growing it. What's a good curley leaved type and what's the best way to grow it?"

Parsley does well in any soil and even grows in partial shade. Seeds do germinate very slowly, taking up to 6 weeks to sprout. Parsley is a must for garnishing and flavoring.

If you want a wonderful variety, grow Paramount. It's a deep green, tightly curled variety which can be grown in the garden or kept in a light window for winter use. Parsley takes little space.

Clear out a little spot and sow a packet of seed. Have plenty of parsley on hand all summer and winter!

Reading Council Planned Locally

EAST STROUDSBURG —Lester J. Bowers, Director of Elementary Education at East Stroudsburg State College, has issued an invitation to all teachers, administrators and parents interested in forming a local council of the International Reading Association to attend a meeting at East Stroudsburg State College April 29.

Bowers stated that the meeting will be held in the lounge of Shawnee Dormitory beginning at 7:30 p.m. Creation of a local council with nomination of officers will be a point of business for the meeting.

Featured as a speaker will be Dr. Agatha Townsend who will present a short summary of her latest findings and developments in reading research.

Board Uses Probe To Award Bid

SWIFTWATER – After investigation by supervising principal C. Willis Dunlap, quality reports on local architectural firms were made to the Pocono Mountain Joint School Board Wednesday night.

On the basis of the recommendations, the board decided to give a $1,000 contract for repair work to Tobyhanna and Barrett Elementary Center boilers to Roushey, Smith and Miller.

Dunlap investigated five architects and submitted his report. His investigation was called for by the board earlier this month when the board could not decide on an architect to handle the work.

In other business, the board moved to send out athletic items for bids as they appeared on a prepared sheet made by the athletic committee.

John Montgomery, board member from Pocono Twp., questioned some of the entries and items asked for by the athletic department.

James Cadue, member from Tobyhanna Twp., then made a motion the items be put out on bids. He added that after prices were submitted the board could better determine which items might be deleted, if any.

"I think a lot of work could be done on these requests for equipment before putting them out on bids," Montgomery said.

Montgomery questioned requests for 18 pairs of wrestling shoes, six rubber wrestling sweat suits, six shooting jackets, six shooting gloves, and an item that embroiled him in a controversy at the last meeting — five coaches caps.

The motion to put the items up for bid, then decide if any paring should be done, was passed with only Montgomery dissenting.

Papal Audience

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI held an unusual outdoor audience this week and received 15,000 Italian small-farm owners.

Orient's Detroit

TOKYO (AP)—Japan manufactured 1,402,506 automobiles in fiscal 1963, the industry's association announced. It said the figure represented an increase of 35.4 per cent over fiscal 1962.

The average American house is bombarded with 100,000 pounds of rain and snow a year.

Wash kitchen walls before repainting, to remove any grease. Dry-mop or vacuum-clean most other interior walls.

Come to the Fair . . . with our favorite "Channel" sweater. Navy, Red or White wool trimmed with brass buttons. Our choice too, for boating or hiking or picnicing! Looks great everywhere! Especially on you. 10.00.

Second Floor

"the friendly store" A.B. Wyckoff STROUDSBURG, PA.

Come To The Fair . . . In Colorful Co-ordinates

STROUDSBURG (ABW) — Our Wyckoff' Sportswear Department on the Second Floor has some really terrific co-ordinate numbers by such famous makers as Petti, College Town, and Juniorite.

Yesterday saw the arrival in our Sportswear Department of new Juniorite summer fashions of Arnel. Cool white and a soft blue co-ordinate group.

The Juniorite Arnel group includes your choice of white or blue in a sharply pleated skirt, 8.00 that can be worn with a trim white collarless blazer trimmed with an edging of the blue around cuffs, pockets and front. The blazer is 8.00. Very light, airy . . . but lending a very smartly dressed look.

Advertised at the right, from our new collection of College Town sportswear . . . the colorful Arnel matchmates that are an excellent "come to the Fair" selection.

This group includes both a slim skirt as well as a box-pleated skirt in colors of white, lemon, or blue. The slim skirt sells for 6.50, the pleated style for 8.00.

Interchangeable tops . . . a popover shell in white, lemon, or a "wild" print for 6.00 . . . or a jacket to be worn with the shell or without, comes in white, blue, and the print for 8.00.

The print to this group includes the blue and lemon on a white background as well as colors of green, a pink, and lavender.

Making it matchable with an even greater number of fashions. The top would go beautifully with pink or blue slacks . . . or jamaicas. White . . . or any of the other colors you might pick out.

The group at the right is a "right" choice for the Fair . . . if you plan on heading there this summer. You'll look cool . . . feel cool in these light, breezy fashions . . . as well as look pretty and feeling pretty.

There are other co-ordinates to be seen in our sportswear department at Wyckoff's. This group includes some very lovely prints . . . of Orlon.

An important point to keep in mind when you are selecting co-ordinating fashions in "just how versatile" they are.

Is the style suitable for more than just one occasion? For instance, our Collegetown collection is fine for touring the Fair

This way your co-ordinate wardrobe becomes larger and more distinctly you in style.

Always keep your co-ordinates in mind when shopping . . . sometimes adding something as simple as a bright new scarf or a cotton knit top can give you a new NEW look. Giving you more fashion mileage to your wardrobe.

. . . it goes to the office . . . or museum touring . . . or baseball games, so many places. And it is still fashionably "alright!"

Versatile . . . in that the "co-ordinate" skirt or blouse is useable with other fashions, skirts and blouse in your wardrobe. Example: the Collegetown collection's Frost White skirt gives you carte blanche go-ahead to use your fashion imagination to wear it with many of your own colorful blouses and skirts. With color co-ordinates you must exercise a bit more care, but even there you can create more of your own exciting looks. Mix solid color co-ordinates with the "right" prints in your wardrobe . . . and your colorful print co-ordinates with other solid colors.

Poster Exhibit In Wyckoff's Keystone Room

STROUDSBURG (ABW) — Have you been in to view it? Not yet! Don't miss it . . . this colorful poster preview gives you an idea of just how wonderful and exciting the New York World's Fair is.

We even have a small dinosaur that wanders about the room . . . generally arm-in-arm with some youngster who is looking at the exhibit. "Dino" is a very congenial, Vinyl dinosaur . . . very quiet for someone full of hot air!

This exhibit continues for the rest of this week. See it now . . . and promise yourself to go see the Fair. Our Travel Bureau is running several bus excursions . . . stop in and talk to them too!

Come To The Fair . . . With Realy Comfy New Shoes

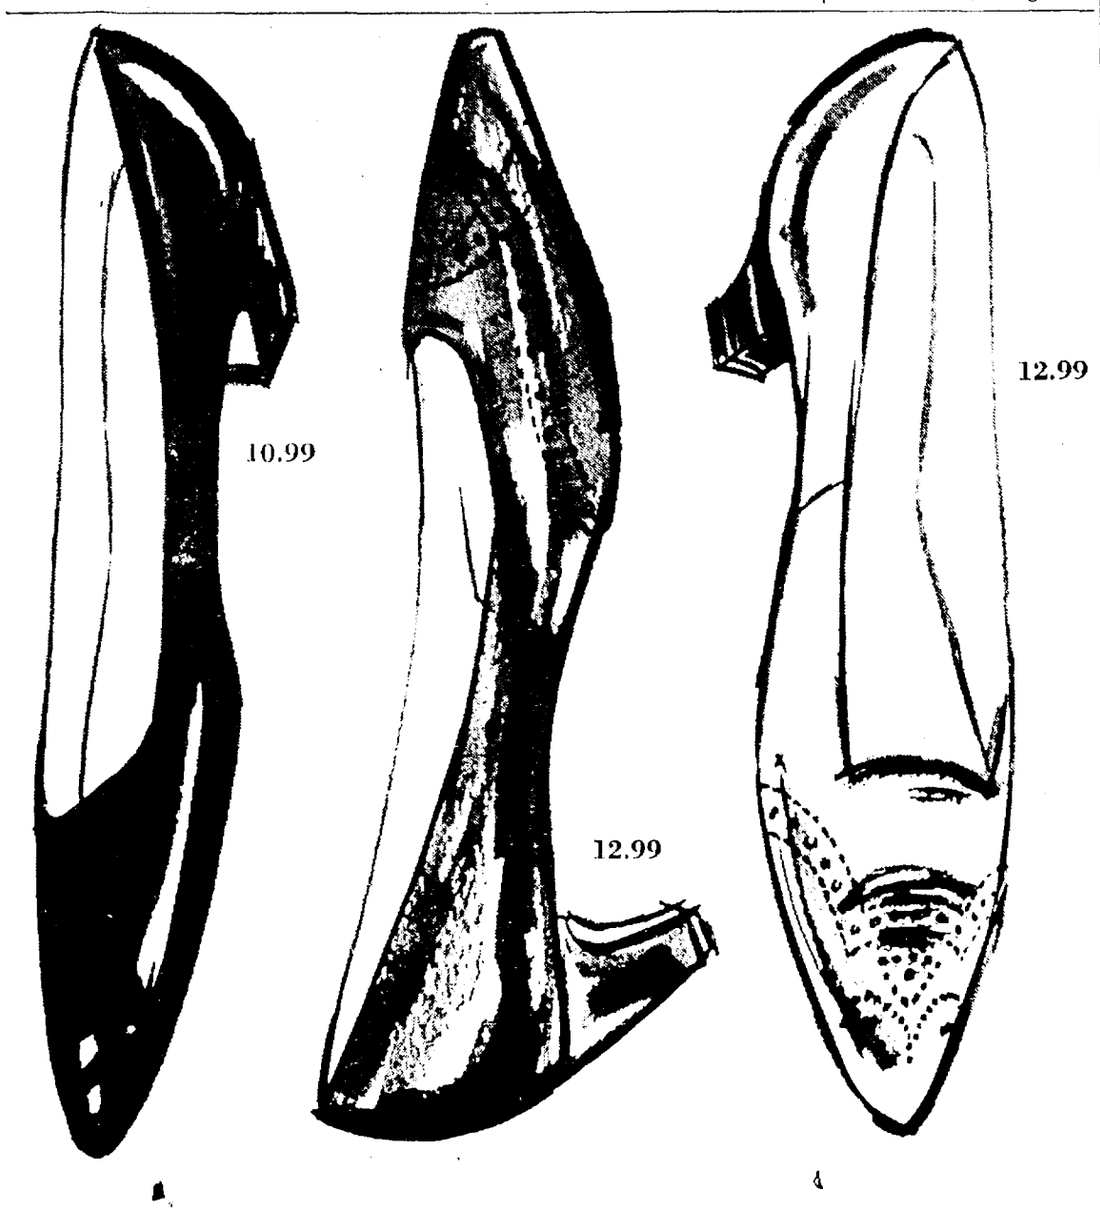
STROUDSBURG (ABW) — This is one time . . . for heaven sakes, when you'd better put aside your favorite four inch heels. The New York World's Fair is spread out over 646 acres, that is approximately one square mile . . . and this could be torture to the woman who comes dressed to kill.

There is so much to enjoy at the Fair . . . so come prepared. And by being prepared we mean . . . smart, simple fashions that always look refreshing . . . and most important . . . your SHOES!

The little heels are really "in" as fashions choice . . . for the Fair, for the office, for shopping, for going everywhere. Our Wyckoff Shoe Department has several very fashionable little heel styles by Life Stride and Sandler of Boston, three of which are shown at the left.

Fashion Show Friday and Saturday at Wyckoff's

STROUDSBURG (ABW) — Girls from high school Home Economics classes in Monroe and adjoining counties will model fashions they made in Wyckoff's Keystone Room, Friday at 7:30 p.m. and Saturday at 3:30 p.m. Each show wil be different.



Wyckoff's Shoe Dept.

From left to right, two styles by Sandler . . . a black patent, 10.99 and b. red, beige or black patent, 12.99. Last the Life Stride "Jackie" in red, white, beige or black, 12.99; also in black patent.

Come to the Fair fashions in Crocus colored co-ordinates. Fresh as spring itself . . . these co-ordinate fashions by CollegeTown are a promising wardrobe favorite. Colors are frost white, lemon or blue . . . co-ordinated with a perky shell top and jacket that come in a gay print as well as solid colors. The shell, 6.00. Jacket, 8.00. Slim skirt, 6.50 and the box-pleated skirt, 8.00. See these Fair-going fashions in our Second Floor Sportswear Department.
